PREFACE.

The year 1889 is one of those known in politics as an "off year." Notwithstanding this, the elections in the four new States of North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, and Washington, the submission of Constitutions to the people in the Territories of Wyoming and Idaho, the large number of non-partisan elections in several of the states, and the curious turn of political affairs in Ohio and Iowa make the year a more than usually important one, considered politically.

In preparing the DAILY NEWS ALMANAC it has been the design to give each year new and fresh statistical matter, avoiding, as far as possible, repetitions, thus making each volume worthy of permanent preservation for purposes of reference. This year considerable space has been given to statistics of the various religious denominations of the country, base ball, imports and exports, education and crime, rainfall and temperature, and other statistics which have been specially asked for. Many statistics are given with a view to the fact that in 1890 a Congress is to be elected and voters will require information upon the issues likely to be prominent.

It is hoped that the present volume will fully justify the hearty indorsement the DAILY NEWS ALMANAC is each year receiving in increasing measure from its appreciative patrons.

ECLIPSES.

In the year 1890 there will be three eclipses—two of the Sun and one of the Moon, and a Lunar Appulse.

A Lunar Appulse, June 2-3. The Moon being visible to North and South America, and adjacent oceans. Occurring as follows:

Standard.	Time of nearest approach.
	D. H. M.
Eastern	3 1 45 M.
Central	3 0 45 M.
Mountain	2 11 45 A.
Pacific	2 10 45 A.

Angle of position of point of nearest approach from North point of the Moon's limb 167 degrees to West. The nearness of the approach and the uncertainty as to the effect of the Earth's atmosphere render it doubtful whether the moon will enter the shadow of the Earth, (causing a partial eclipse) or not.

I. An Annular eclipse of the Sun, June 17. Invisible to the United States. Visible to Europe, Asia, northern half of Africa, eastern extremity of South America and the intermediate Atlantic Ocean

II. A slight Partial Eclipse of the Moon, November 26. Invisible east of Dakota. Visible to the western part of North America, Asia, Australia and the Pacific Ocean. Occurring as follows:

	TIMES OF PHASES.

INCREASE IN WEALTH.

(Prepared by T. E. Willson of New York.)

The increase in the wealth of the states during the past eight years—whether compared with the assessed value in 1888 or with the wealth according to the census measuring rods—is worth notice. The assessments are the last reports of the state officers to the librarian of congress and average about October, 1888:

Party Platforms.

NATIONAL ELECTIONS OF 1888.

Republican.

Adopted at Chicago June 29, 1888.

The republicans of the United States, assembled by their delegates in national convention, pause on the threshold of their proceedings to honor the memory of their first great leader—the immortal champion of liberty and the rights of the people—Abraham Lincoln; and to cover also with wreaths of imperishable remembrance and gratitude the heroic names of our later leaders who have been more recently called away from our councils — Grant, Garfield, Arthur, Logan, Conkling—may their memories be faithfully cherished.

We also recall with our greetings and with prayer for his recovery the name of one of our living heroes whose memory will be treasured in the history both of republicans and of the republic—the name of that noble soldier and favorite child of victory, Philip H. Sheridan. In the spirit of those great leaders and of our own devotion to human liberty, and with that hostility to all forms of despotism and oppression which is the fundamental idea of the republican party, we send fraternal congratulations to our fellow-Americans of Brazil upon their great act of emancipation, which completed the abolition of slavery throughout the two American continents. We earnestly hope that we may soon congratulate our fellow-citizens of Irish birth upon the peaceful recovery of home rule for Ireland.

We reaffirm our unswerving devotion to the national constitution and to the indissoluble union of the states; to the autonomy reserved to the states under the constitution; to the personal rights and liberties of citizens in all the states and territories in the union, and especially to the supreme and sovereign right of every lawful citizen, rich or poor, native or foreign born, white or black, to cast one free ballot in public elections and to have that ballot duly counted. We hold the free and honest popular ballot and the just and equal representation of all the people to be the foundation of our republican government, and demand effective legislation to secure the integrity and purity of elections, which are the foundation of all public authority. We charge that the present administration and the democratic majority in congress owe their existence to the suppression of the ballot by a criminal nullification of the constitution and laws of the United States.

We are unconditionally in favor of the American system of protection; we protest against its destruction, proposed by the president and his party. They serve the interests of Europe; we will support the interests of America. We accept the issue and confidently appeal to the people for their judgment. The protective system must be maintained. Its abandonment has always been followed by general disaster to all interests except those of the usurer and the sheriff. We denounce the Mills bill as destructive to the general business, the labor, and the farming interests of the country, and we heartily indorse the consistent and patriotic action of the republican representatives in congress in opposing its passage.

We condemn the proposition of the democratic party to place wool on the free list, and we insist that the duties thereon shall be adjusted and maintained so as to furnish full and adequate protection to that industry.

The republican party would effect all needed reduction of the national revenue by repealing the taxes upon tobacco, which are an annoyance and burden to agriculture, and the tax upon spirits used in the arts and for mechanical purposes, and by such revision of the tariff laws as will tend to check imports of such articles as are produced by our people, the production of which gives employment to our labor, and release from import duties those articles of foreign production (except luxuries) the like of which cannot be produced at home. If there shall still remain a larger revenue than is requisite for the wants of the government we favor the entire repeal of internal taxes rather than the surrender of any part of our protective system at the joint behest of the whisky trusts and the agents of foreign manufacturers.

We declare our hostility to the introduction into this country of foreign contract labor and of Chinese labor, alien to our civilization and our constitution; and we demand the rigid enforcement of the existing laws against it, and favor such immediate legislation as will exclude such labor from our shores.

We declare our opposition to all combinations of capital organized in trusts or otherwise to control arbitrarily the condition of trade among our citizens; and we recommend to congress and the state legislatures in their respective jurisdictions such legislation as will prevent the execution of all schemes to oppress the people by undue charges on their supplies or by unjust rates for the transportation of their products to market. We approve the legislation by congress to prevent alike unjust burdens and unfair discriminations between the states.

We reaffirm the policy of appropriating the public lands of the United States to be homesteads for American citizens and settlers—not aliens—which the republican party established in 1862 against the persistent opposition of the democrats in congress, and which has brought our great western domain into such magnificent development. The restoration of unearned railroad land grants to the public domain for the use of actual settlers, which was begun under the administration of President Arthur, should be continued. We deny that the democratic party has ever restored one acre to the people, but declare that by the joint action of republicans and democrats about fifty millions of acres of unearned lands originally granted for the construction of railroads have been restored to the public domain, in pursuance of the conditions inserted by the republican party in the original grants. We charge the democratic administration with failure to execute the laws securing to settlers titles to their homesteads, and with using appropriations made for that purpose to harass innocent settlers with spies and prosecutions under the false pretense of exposing frauds and vindicating the law.

The government by congress of the territories is based upon necessity only to the end that they may become states in the union; therefore, whenever the conditions of population, material resources, public intelligence, and morality are such as to insure a stable local government therein the people of such territories should be permitted as a right inherent in them to form for themselves constitutions and state governments and be admitted into the union. Pending the preparation for statehood all officers thereof should be selected from the bona-fide residents and citizens of the territory wherein they are to serve. South Dakota should of right be immediately admitted as a state in the union under the constitution framed and adopted by her people, and we heartily indorse the action of the republican senate in twice passing bills for her admission. The refusal of the democratic house of representatives, for partisan purposes, to favorably consider these bills is a willful violation of the sacred American principle of local self-government and merits the condemnation of all just men. The pending bills in the senate for acts to enable the people of Washington, North Dakota, and Montana territories to form constitutions and establish state governments should be passed without unnecessary delay. The republican party pledges itself to do all in its power to facilitate the admission of the territories of New Mexico, Wyoming, Idaho, and Arizona to the enjoyment of self-government as states, such of them as are now qualified as soon as possible and the others as soon as they may become so.

The political power of the mormon church in the territories as exercised in the past is a menace to free institutions too dangerous to be long suffered. Therefore we pledge the republican party to appropriate legislation asserting the sovereignty of the nation in all territories where the same is questioned, and in furtherance of that end to place upon the statute books legislation stringent enough to divorce the political from the ecclesiastical power, and thus stamp out the attendant wickedness of polygamy.

The republican party is in favor of the use of both gold and silver as money, and condemns the policy of the democratic administration in its efforts to demonetize silver.

We demand the reduction of letter postage to 1 cent per ounce.

In a republic like ours, where the citizen is the sovereign and the official the servant, where no power is exercised except by the will of the people, it is important that the sovereign—the people—should possess intelligence. The free school is the promoter of that intelligence which is to preserve us a free nation; therefore the state or nation, or both combined, should support free institutions of learning sufficient to afford to every child growing in the land the opportunity of a good common-school education.

We earnestly recommend that prompt action be taken by congress in the enactment of such legislation as will best secure the rehabilitation of our American merchant marine, and we protest against the passage by congress of a free-ship bill as calculated to work injustice to labor by lessening the wages of those engaged in preparing materials as well as those directly employed in our ship-yards. We demand appropriations for the early rebuilding of our navy; for the construction of coast fortifications and modern ordnance and other approved modern means of defense for the protection of our defenseless harbors and cities; for the payment of just pensions to our soldiers; for necessary works of national importance in the improvement of harbors and the channels of internal, coastwise, and foreign commerce; for the encouragement of the shipping interests of the Atlantic, Gulf, and Pacific states, as well as for the payment of the maturing public debt. This policy will give employment to our labor, activity to our various industries, increase the security of our country, promote trade, open new and direct markets for our produce, and cheapen the cost of transportation. We affirm this to be far better for our country than the democratic policy of loaning the government's money without interest to "pet banks."

The conduct of foreign affairs by the present administration has been distinguished by its inefficiency and its cowardice. Having withdrawn from the senate all pending treaties effected by republican administrations for the removal of foreign burdens and restrictions upon our commerce and for its extension into better markets, it has neither effected nor proposed any others in their stead. Professing adherence to the Monroe doctrine, it has seen with idle complacency the extension of foreign influence in Central America and of foreign trade everywhere among our neighbors. It has refused to charter, sanction, or encourage any American organization for constructing the Nicaragua canal, a work of vital importance to the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine and of our national influence in Central and South America, and necessary for the development of trade with our Pacific territory, with South America, and with the islands and farther coasts of the Pacific ocean.

We arraign the present democratic administration for its weak and unpatriotic treatment of the fisheries question and its pusillanimous surrender of the essential privileges to which our fishing vessels are entitled in Canadian ports under the treaty of 1818, the reciprocal maritime legislation of 1830, and the comity of nations, and which Canadian fishing vessels receive in the ports of the United States. We condemn the policy of the present administration and the democratic majority in congress toward our fisheries as unfriendly and conspicuously unpatriotic, and as tending to destroy a valuable national industry and an indispensable resource of defense against a foreign enemy.

The name American applies alike to all citizens of the republic and imposes upon all alike the same obligation of obedience to the laws. At the same time that citizenship is and must be the panoply and safeguard of him who wears it, and protect him, whether high or low, rich or poor, in all his civil rights. It should and must afford him protection at home and follow and protect him abroad in whatever land he may be on a lawful errand.

The men who abandoned the republican party in 1884 and continue to adhere to the democratic party have deserted not only the cause of honest government, of sound finance, of freedom and purity of the ballot, but especially have deserted the cause of reform in the civil service. We will not fail to keep our pledges because they have broken theirs, or because their candidate has broken his. We, therefore, repeat our declaration of 1884—to-wit: "The reform of the civil service, auspiciously begun under the republican administration, should be completed by the further extension of the reform system already established by law to all the grades of the service to which it is applicable. The spirit and purpose of the reform should be observed in all executive appointments, and all laws at variance with the object of existing reform legislation should be repealed, to the end that the dangers to free institutions which lurk in the power of official patronage may be wisely and effectively avoided."

The gratitude of the nation to the defenders of the union cannot be measured by laws. The legislation of congress should conform to the pledges made by a loyal people, and be so enlarged and extended as to provide against the possibility that any man who honorably wore the federal uniform shall become an inmate of an almshouse or dependent upon private charity. In the presence of an overflowing treasury it would be a public scandal to do less for those whose valorous services preserved the government. We denounce the hostile spirit shown by President Cleveland in his numerous vetoes of measures for pension relief and the action of the democratic house of representatives in refusing even a consideration of general pension legislation.

In support of the principles herewith enunciated we invite the co-operation of patriotic men of all parties, and especially of all workingmen, whose prosperity is seriously threatened by the free-trade policy of the present administration.

[The following was added near the close of the convention:]

The first concern of all good government is the virtue and sobriety of the people and the purity of the home. The republican party cordially sympathizes with all wise and well-directed efforts for the promotion of temperance and morality. —

The nominees of the convention were: For president, Benjamin Harrison of Indiana, and for vice-president, Levi P. Morton of New York.

Anti-Saloon Republican.

Adopted at New York May 3, 1888.

1. We regard the saloon as the common and malignant foe of civilization and humanity. It is wasteful, vicious, and hostile to good government. It degrades the individual, ruins the family, debauches our youth, is destructive of Sunday as the people's day of rest, corrupts the ballot, fosters crime, and threatens the very existence of the republic. It has become a pernicious and demoralizing power in politics—municipal, state, and national—and is therein intrusive and aggressive. As a public enemy it ought to be abolished.

2. We have with great satisfaction witnessed the rapid growth of the anti-saloon sentiment in all parts of the country, as shown by constitutional amendments, legislative enactments, and by the fact that in thirty-four states and territories laws have been enacted requiring the giving of scientific instruction in public schools on the effects of alcohol upon the human system. The public conscience is aroused on this subject and will be satisfied with nothing less than the suppression of this monstrous evil. The saloon is doomed and must go.

3. Recognizing the practical difficulties of legislation and enforcement, we unite upon the broad ground of active hostility to the saloon without dictating methods of procedure. The people have the right and should have the opportunity of deciding how and when the saloon shall be suppressed. It should be destroyed with the weapons that are most effective and available.

4. As members of the republican party we are proud of its glorious past, rejoice in its present vigor, and have an abiding confidence that it will prove to be the agent of divine Providence for the destruction of the saloon as it was for the overthrow of slavery. The saloon is moral slavery.

5. Speaking for an overwhelming majority of republican voters and good citizens, we respectfully but most earnestly ask our brethren of the national republican convention that is to meet in Chicago to incorporate in their platform of principles a declaration of hostility to the saloon as clear and emphatic as the English language can make it. We ask this because it is right. Right is might.

6. We earnestly invite the active co-operation of all friends of temperance in this plan of campaign, which has in it the promise and potency of the speedy overthrow of the saloon party in national affairs and the immediate crippling and ultimate extinction of the legalized liquor traffic.

Resolved, That recognizing the fact that during the early history of the republican party, when it made the most glorious portion of its record, it had the enthusiastic support of the best women of the land, and recognizing the further fact that the help of all good women is more needed in the warfare against the saloon, we appeal to them to give a hearty support to the republican party whenever and wherever it stands for protection of the home against the saloon.

Democratic.

Adopted at St. Louis June 7, 1888.

The democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled, renews the pledge of its fidelity to the democratic faith and reaffirms the platform adopted by its representatives in the convention of 1884, and indorses the views expressed by President Cleveland in his last earnest message to congress as the correct interpretation of that platform upon the question of tariff reduction, and also indorses the efforts of our democratic representatives in congress to secure a reduction of excessive taxation.

Chief among its principles of party faith are the maintenance of an indissoluble union of free and indestructible states, now about to enter upon its second century of unexampled progress and renown; devotion to a plan of government regulated by a written constitution strictly specifying every granted power and expressly reserving to the states or people the entire unigranted residue of power; the encouragement of a jealous popular vigilance directed to all who have been chosen for brief terms to enact and execute the laws and are charged with the duty of preserving peace, insuring equality, and establishing justice.

The democratic party welcomes an exacting scrutiny of the administration of the executive power, which four years ago was committed to its trust in the election of Grover Cleveland president of the United States, and it challenges the most searching inquiry concerning its fidelity and devotion to the pledges which then invited the suffrages of the people. During a most critical period of our financial affairs—resulting from overtaxation, the anomalous condition of our currency, and a public debt unmatured—it has, by the adoption of a wise and statesmanlike course, not only averted disaster but greatly promoted the prosperity of the people.

It has reversed the improvident and unwise policy of the republican party touching the public domain, and has reclaimed from corporations and syndicates, alien and domestic, and restored to the people nearly one hundred million acres of valuable land, to be sacredly held as homesteads for our citizens.

While carefully guarding the interests of the people, consistent with the principles of justice and equity, it has paid out more for pensions and bounties to the soldiers and sailors of the republic than was ever paid before during an equal period.

It has adopted and consistently pursued a firm and prudent foreign policy, preserving peace with all nations while scrupulously maintaining all the rights and interests of our own government and people, at home and abroad.

The exclusion from our shores of Chinese laborers has been effectually secured under the provisions of a treaty the operation of which has been postponed by the action of a republican majority in the senate.

Honest reform in the civil service has been inaugurated and maintained by President Cleveland, and he has brought the public service to the highest standard of efficiency, not only by rule and precept but by the example of his own untiring and unselfish administration of public affairs.

In every branch and department of the government under democratic control the rights and the welfare of all the people have been guarded and defended; every public interest has been protected, and the equality of all our citizens before the law, without regard to race or color, has been steadfastly maintained.

Upon its record thus exhibited and upon the pledge of a continuance to the people of the benefits of democracy it invokes a renewal of popular trust by the re-election of a chief magistrate who has been faithful, able, and prudent, and invokes in addition to that trust the transfer also to the democracy of the entire legislative power.

The republican party, controlling the senate and resisting in both houses of congress a reformation of unjust and unequal tax laws —which have outlasted the necessities of war and are now undermining the abundance of a long period of peace—deny to the people equality before the law and the fairness and the justice which are their right. The cry of American labor for a better share in the rewards of industry is stifled with false pretenses, enterprise is fettered and bound down to home markets, capital is discouraged with doubt, and unequal, unjust laws can neither be properly amended nor repealed. The democratic party will continue, with all the power confided to it, the struggle to reform these laws in accordance with the pledges of its last platform, indorsed at the ballot-box by the suffrages of the people. Of all the industrious freemen of our land, the immense majority, including every tiller of the soil, gain no advantage from excessive tax laws, but the price of nearly everything they buy is increased by the favoritism of an unequal system of tax legislation.

All unnecessary taxation is unjust taxation. It is repugnant to the creed of democracy that by such taxation the cost of the necessaries of life should be unjustifiably increased to all our people. Judged by democratic principles, the interests of the people are betrayed when, by unnecessary taxation, trusts and combinations are permitted to exist which, while unduly enriching the few that combine, rob the body of our citizens by depriving them of the benefits of natural competition. Every rule of governmental action is violated when, through unnecessary taxation, a vast sum of money—far beyond the needs of an economical administration—is drawn from the people, the channels of trade, and accumulated as a demoralizing surplus in the national treasury.

The money now lying idle in the federal treasury resulting from superfluous taxation amounts to more than $125,000,000, and the surplus collected is reaching the sum of more than $60,000,000 annually. Debauched by this immense temptation, the remedy of the republican party is to meet and exhaust by extravagant appropriations and expenses, whether constitutional or not, the accumulation of extravagant taxation. The democratic policy is to enforce frugality in public expenses and abolish unnecessary taxation.

Our established domestic industries and enterprises should not and need not be endangered by the reduction and correction of the burdens of taxation. On the contrary, a fair and careful revision of our tax laws, with due allowance for the difference between the wages of American and foreign labor, must promote and encourage every branch of such industries and enterprises by giving them assurance of an extended market and steady and continuous operations. In the interests of American labor, which should in no event be neglected, the revision of our tax laws contemplated by the democratic party should promote the advantage of such labor by cheapening the cost of necessaries of life in the home of every workingman and at the same time secure to him steady and remunerative employment.

Upon this question of tariff reform, so closely concerning every phase of our national life, and upon every question involved in the problem of good government, the democratic party submits its principles and professions to the intelligent suffrages of the American people.

The nominees of the convention were: For president, Grover Cleveland of New York; for vice-president, Allen G. Thurman of Ohio.

Prohibition.

Adopted at Indianapolis May 31, 1888.

The prohibition party, in national convention assembled, acknowledging Almighty God as the source of all power in government, do hereby declare:

1. That the manufacture, importation, exportation, transportation, and sale of alcoholic beverages shall be made public crimes, and punished as such.

2. That such prohibition must be secured through amendments of our national and state constitutions, enforced by adequate laws adequately supported by administrative authority, and to this end the organization of the prohibition party is imperatively demanded in state and nation.

3. That any form of license, taxation, or regulation of the liquor traffic is contrary to good government; that any party which supports regulation, license, or tax enters into alliance with such traffic and becomes the actual foe of the state's welfare, and that we arraign the republican and democratic parties for their persistent attitude in favor of the licensed iniquity, whereby they oppose the demand of the people for prohibition and, through open complicity with the liquor cause, defeat the enforcement of law.

4. For the immediate abolition of the internal-revenue system, whereby our national government is deriving support from our greatest national vice.

5. That, an adequate public revenue being necessary, it may properly be raised by import duties and by an equitable assessment upon the property and the legitimate business of the country, but import duties should be so reduced that no surplus shall be accumulated in the treasury, and that the burdens of taxation shall be removed from foods, clothing, and other comforts and necessaries of life.

6. That civil-service appointments for all civil offices chiefly clerical in their duties should be based upon moral, intellectual, and physical qualifications, and not upon party service or party necessity.

7. That the right of suffrage rests on no mere circumstance of race, color, sex, or nationality, and that wherever from any cause it has been withheld from citizens who are of suitable age and mentally and morally qualified for the exercise of an intelligent ballot it should be restored by the people through the legislatures of the several states on such educational basis as they may deem wise.

8. For the abolition of polygamy and the establishment of uniform laws governing marriage and divorce.

9. For prohibiting all combinations of capital to control and to increase the cost of products for popular consumption.

10. For the preservation and defense of the sabbath as a civil institution without oppressing any who religiously observe the same on any other day than the first day of the week. That arbitration is the Christian, wise, and economic method of settling national differences, and the same method should, by judicious legislation, be applied to the settlement of disputes between large bodies of employes and employers; that the abolition of the saloon would remove the burdens—moral, physical, pecuniary, and social—which now oppress labor and rob it of its earnings, and would prove to be the wise and successful way of promoting labor reform, and we invite labor and capital to unite with us for the accomplishment thereof; that monopoly in the land is a wrong to the people, and public land should be reserved to actual settlers, and that men and women should receive equal wages for equal work.

11. That our immigration laws should be so enforced as to prevent the introduction into our country of all convicts, inmates of dependent institutions, and of others physically incapacitated for self-support, and that no person should have the ballot in any state who is not a citizen of the United States. Recognizing and declaring that prohibition of the liquor traffic has become the dominant issue in national politics, we invite to full party fellowship all those who on this one dominant issue are with us agreed, in the full belief that this party can and will remove sectional differences, promote national unity, and insure the best welfare of our native land.

The nominees of the convention were: For president, Clinton B. Fisk of New Jersey, and for vice-president, John A. Brooks of Missouri.

Union Labor.

Adopted at Cincinnati May 16, 1888.

1. While we believe that the proper solution of the financial system will greatly relieve those now in danger of losing their homes by mortgage-foreclosure and enable all industrious persons to secure a home as the highest result of civilization, we oppose land monopoly in every form, demand the forfeiture of unearned grants, the limitation of land-ownership, and such other legislation as will stop speculation in land and holding it unused from those whose necessities require it. We believe the earth was made for the people, and not to enable an idle aristocracy to subsist through rents upon the toil of the industrious, and that "corners" in land are as bad as "corners" in food, and that those who are not residents or citizens should not be allowed to own land in the United States. A homestead should be exempt to a limited extent from execution or taxation.

2. The means of communication and transportation should be owned by the people, as is the United States postal system.

3. The establishing of a national monetary system in the interest of the producers instead of the speculators and usurers, by which the circulating medium in necessary quantity and full legal tender should be issued directly to the people without the intervention of banks, or loaned to citizens upon land security at a low rate of interest. To relieve them from extortions of usury and enable them to control the money supply, postal savings banks should be established. While we have free coinage of gold we should have free coinage of silver. We demand the immediate application of all the idle money in the United States treasury to the payment of the bonded debt, and condemn the further issue of interest-bearing bonds either by the national government or by states, territories, or municipalities.

4. Arbitration should take the place of strikes and other injurious methods of settling labor disputes. The letting of convict labor to contractors should be prohibited, the contract system be abolished in public works, the hours of labor in industrial establishments be reduced commensurate with the increased production by labor-saving machinery, employes be protected from bodily injury, equal pay given for equal work for both sexes, and labor, agricultural, and co-operative associations be fostered and encouraged by law. The foundation of a republic is in the intelligence of its citizens, and children who are drawn into workshops, mines, and factories are deprived of the education which should be secured to all by proper legislation.

5. We demand the passage of a service pension bill to pension every honorably discharged soldier and sailor of the United States.

6. A graduated income tax is the most equitable system of taxation, placing the burden of government upon those who are best able to pay, instead of laying it on the farmers and exempting millionaire bondholders and corporations.

7. We demand a constitutional amendment making United States senators elective by a direct vote of the people.

8. We demand a strict enforcement of laws prohibiting the importation of subjects of foreign countries under contracts.

9. We demand the passage and enforcement of such legislation as will absolutely exclude the Chinese from the United States.

10. The right to vote is inherent in citizenship, irrespective of sex, and is properly within the province of state legislation.

11. The paramount issues to be solved in the interests of humanity are the abolition of usury, monopoly, and trusts; and we denounce the republican and democratic parties for creating and perpetuating these monstrous evils.

The nominees of the convention were: For president, A. J. Streeter of Illinois; for vice-president, Charles E. Cunningham of Arkansas.

United Labor.

Adopted at Cincinnati May 16, 1888.

We, the delegates of the united labor party of the United States, in national convention assembled, hold that the corruptions of government and the impoverishment of the masses result from neglect of the self-evident truths proclaimed by the founders of this republic, that all men are created equal and are endowed with inalienable rights. We aim at the abolition of the system which compels men to pay their fellow-creatures for the use of the common bounties of nature and permits monopolizers to deprive labor of natural opportunities for employment.

We see access to farming land denied to labor except on payment of exorbitant rent or the acceptance of mortgage burdens, and labor, thus forbidden to employ itself, driven into the cities. We see the wage-workers of the cities subjected to this unnatural competition, and forced to pay an exorbitant share of their scanty earnings for cramped and unhealthful lodgings. We see the same intense competition condemning the great majority of business and professional men to a bitter and often unavailing struggle to avoid bankruptcy, and that while the price of all that labor produces ever falls the price of land ever rises.

We trace these evils to a fundamental wrong—the making of the land on which all must live the exclusive property of but a portion of the community. To this denial of natural rights are due want of employment, low wages, business depressions, that intense competition which makes it so difficult for the majority of men to get a comfortable living, and that wrongful distribution of wealth which is producing the millionaire on one side and the tramp on the other.

To give all men an interest in the land of their country; to enable all to share in the benefits of social growth and improvement; to prevent the shutting out of labor from employment by the monopolization of natural opportunities; to do away with the one-sided competition which cuts down wages to starvation rates; to restore life to business and prevent periodical depressions; to do away with that monstrous injustice which deprives producers of the fruits of their toil while idlers grow rich; to prevent the conflicts which are arraying class against class, and which are fraught with menacing dangers to society, we propose so to change the existing system of taxation that no one shall be taxed on the wealth he produces, nor any one suffered to appropriate wealth he does not produce by taking to himself the increasing values which the growth of society adds to land.

What we propose is not the disturbing of any man in his holding or title, but by taxation of land according to its value, and not according to its area, to devote to common use and benefit those values which arise not from the exertion of the individual but from the growth of society, and to abolish all taxes on industry and its products. This increased taxation of land values must, while relieving the working farmer and small homestead-owner of the undue burdens now imposed upon them, make it unprofitable to hold land for speculation, and thus throw open abundant opportunities for the employment of labor and the building up of homes.

We would do away with the present unjust and wasteful system of finance, which piles up hundreds of millions of dollars in treasury vaults while we are paying interest on an enormous debt; and we would establish in its steady a monetary system in which a legal-tender circulating medium should be issued by the government without the intervention of banks.

We wish to abolish the present unjust and wasteful system of ownership of railroads and telegraphs by private corporations — a system which, while failing to supply adequately public needs, impoverishes the farmer, oppresses the manufacturer, hampers the merchant, impedes travel and communication, and builds up enormous fortunes and corrupting monopolies that are becoming more powerful than the government itself. For this system we would substitute government ownership and control for the benefit of the whole people instead of private profit.

While declaring the foregoing to be the fundamental principles and aims of the united labor party, and while conscious that no reform can give effectual and permanent relief to labor that does not involve the legal recognition of equal rights to natural opportunities, we, nevertheless, as measures of relief from some of the evil effects of ignoring those rights, favor such legislation as may tend to reduce the hours of labor, to prevent the employment of children of tender years, to avoid the competition of convict labor with honest industry, to secure the sanitary inspection of tenements, factories, and mines, and to put an end to the abuse of conspiracy laws.

We desire also to so simplify the procedure of our courts and diminish the expense of legal proceedings that the poor therein may be placed on an equality with the rich, and the long delays which now result in scandalous miscarriages of justice may be prevented.

Since the ballot is the only means by which in our republic the redress of political and social grievances is to be sought, we especially and emphatically declare for the adoption of what is known as the Australian system of voting, in order that the effectual secrecy of the ballot and the relief of candidates for public office from the heavy expenses now imposed upon them may prevent bribery and intimidation, do away with practical discriminations in favor of the rich and unscrupulous, and lessen the pernicious influence of money in politics.

We denounce the democratic and republican parties as hopelessly and shamelessly corrupt, and, by reason of their affiliation with monopolies, equally unworthy of the suffrages of those who do not live upon public plunder; we therefore require of those who would act with us that they sever all connection with both.

In support of these aims we solicit the co-operation of all patriotic citizens who, sick of the degradation of politics, desire by constitutional methods to establish justice, to preserve liberty, to extend the spirit of fraternity, and to elevate humanity.

The nominees of the convention were: For president, Robert H. Cowdrey of Illinois, and for vice-president, W. H. T. Wakefield of Kansas.

Equal Rights.

Adopted at Des Moines May 15, 1888.

Resolved, That while we do not espouse the cause of woman's rights or man's rights distinctively and separately as such, we judge it best in the present formative state of public opinion, and as a proper balancing in the present, in view of the past, to put a woman's name at the head of the ticket.

Resolved, That history having demonstrated the fact that women in all ages have proven capable, in isolated instances, of leading armies, conquering cities, and ruling nations, and believing that we have such a one among us to-day, a woman with scope of vision, intellectual vigor, and executive ability equal to the task; one possessing, moreover, from a long residence at the capital and extensive travel, a thorough acquaintance with the state, conditions of our country, and with the magnates of its chosen masculine rulers, and who, comprehending the abuse of our times, with quick intuitions grasps the remedy; a woman who has stormed the redoubts of legal practice and prejudice and fought her right of way to stand and plead the people's cause before the bar of our highest courts; upon whose benign brow is set the signet of an infinite womanly sympathy, blended with favor.

Resolved, That we place her name at the head of the equal-rights ticket, believing Belva A. Lockwood its most fitting exponent and leader.

Believing that the disfranchisement of women has much to do with the growing influence of crime in the nation, we, the women of America, by their representatives here assembled, do pledge ourselves that if our party and candidates come into power equal rights shall be meted out to all citizens, without regard to sex or color—a fair ballot and an honest count.

We shall ask congress to pass an enabling act giving the women of this nation the right to vote in all election precincts of the United States, as women are citizens, amenable to the laws and liable to taxation.

That the settlement of estates shall be the same in the courts of joint property, and in the case of the death of the wife her heirs shall receive the same consideration as those of the husband, without consulting his interests. In case of the death of the husband the wife shall be administrator and guardian of her children without any process of law.

We pledge ourselves to the cause of temperance and are in favor of arbitration by international commission instead of the sword, although under the circumstances of the late war our union soldiers and sailors were inspired by the purest patriotism and principles of right. And we will demand of congress to pension them each and every one if they need help.

That we urge measures to be taken to stop the immigration of the scum of Europe and Asia to our shores, and that we protect our workingmen from cheap foreign labor by protecting our home markets and manufacturers.

That land owned by foreign landlords and wealthy corporations be heavily taxed to support the government and put sugar and lumber on the free list. And abolish taxes on whisky and tobacco, as it makes the government a partner in their excessive use—the evil of the century.

That in our candidates, Belva A. Lockwood and Albert H. Love of Philadelphia, we have every confidence in their ability, integrity, and firmness in carrying out these grand and glorious principles.

The nominees of the convention were: For president, (Mrs.) Belva A. Lockwood of Washington, D. C., and for vice-president, Albert H. Love of Pennsylvania. Mr. Love declined and Charles S. Welles of New York was substituted. ——

American.

Adopted at Washington Aug. 15, 1888.

Believing that the time has arrived when a due regard for the present and future prosperity of our country makes it imperative that the people of the United States of America should take full and entire control of their government, to the exclusion of revolutionary and incendiary foreigners now seeking our shores from every quarter of the world, and recognizing that the first and most important duty of an American citizen is to maintain this government in all attainable purity and strength, we make the following declaration of principles:

Resolved, That all law-abiding citizens of the United States of America, whether native or foreign born, are political equals (except as provided by the constitution), and all are entitled to and should receive the full protection of the laws.

Whereas, There are seventeen states in this union wherein persons are allowed to vote at all elections without being citizens of the United States; and, whereas, such a systems tends to place the management of the government into the hands of those who owe no allegiance to our political institutions; therefore,

Resolved, That the constitution of the United States should be so amended as to prohibit the federal and state governments from conferring upon any person the right to vote unless such person be a citizen of the United States.

Resolved, That we are in favor of fostering and encouraging American industries of every class and kind; that the issue of "protection" versus "free trade" is a fraud and a snare. The best "protection" is that which protects the labor and life-blood of the republic from the degrading competition with and contamination by imported foreigners; and the most dangerous "free trade" is that in paupers, criminals, communists, and anarchists, in which the balance has always been against the United States.

Whereas, One of the greatest evils of unrestricted foreign immigration is the reduction of the wages of American workingmen and workingwomen to the level of the underfed and underpaid labor of foreign countries. Therefore,

Resolved, That we demand that no immigrant shall be admitted into the United States without a passport obtained from the American consul at the port from which he sails; that no passport shall be issued to any pauper, criminal, or insane person, or to any person who, in the judgment of the consul, is not likely to become a desirable citizen of the United States; and that for each immigrant passport there shall be collected by the consul issuing the same the sum of one hundred dollars ($100), to be by him paid into the treasury of the United States.

Resolved, That all persons not in sympathy with our government should be prohibited from immigrating to these United States.

Resolved, That the naturalization laws of the United States should be unconditionally repealed.

Resolved, That the soil of America should belong to Americans; that no alien non-resident should be permitted to own real estate in the United States, and that the realty possessions of the resident alien should be limited in value and area.

Resolved, That we favor educating the boys and girls of American citizens as mechanics and artisans, thus fitting them for the places now filled by foreigners, who supply the greater part of our skilled labor, and thereby almost entirely control the great industries of our country, save, perhaps, that of agriculture alone; and, that our boys and girls may be taught trades, we demand the establishment and maintenance of free technical schools.

Resolved, That universal education is a necessity of our government, and that an American free-school system should be maintained and preserved as the safeguard of American liberty.

Resolved, That no language except the English shall be taught in the common schools supported at the public expense.

Whereas, Unemployed population is the greatest evil that can befall any nation, and in this country it cannot be eliminated by European methods, such as extra police and standing armies; therefore,

Resolved, That the surplus in the treasury should be devoted to the material improvement of our coast and frontier defenses and the construction of an American navy in American workshops by American labor.

Resolved, That we demand the enactment of a law which shall require all persons having charge in any way, in any department, bureau, or division of the government to forthwith dismiss from the public service all persons employed in or about any such department, bureau, or division, in any way or manner, who are not citizens of the United States by nativity or by having fully completed their naturalization papers by due process of law; that no person shall be appointed to or hold office or place in the service of the United State who is not a citizen of the United States, either by having fully completed his naturalization and taken out his final papers by due form and process of law or who is not a citizen of the United States by nativity.

Resolved, That after the year 1898 it shall be required of every voter, before he exercises the right of suffrage, to be able to read the written or printed constitution of the United States in the English language and to write his own name upon the register, to show that he is fitted to share in the administration of the government of the republic.

Resolved, That we recognize the right of labor to organize for its protection, and by all lawful and peaceful means to secure to itself the greatest reward for its thrift and industry; and we believe in governmental arbitration in the settlement of industrial differences.

Resolved, That we are in favor of such legislation by congress as will re-establish the American marine.

Resolved, That no flag shall float over any public building—municipal, state, or national—in the United States except the stars and stripes.

Resolved, That we reassert the American principles of absolute freedom of religious worship and belief; the permanent separation of church and state; and we oppose the appropriation of public money or property to any church or institution administered by a church. We maintain that all church property should be subject to taxation.

Resolved, That the presidential term shall be extended to six years and the president shall be ineligible for re-election.

Resolved, That the American party declares that it recognizes no north, no south, no east, no west, in these United States; but one people, pledged to our liberty and our independence.

The nominees of the convention were: For president, James L. Curtis of Connecticut, and for vice-president, J. R. Greer of Tennessee. Mr. Greer declined and D. P. Wigginton of California was substituted in his place after the convention adjourned.

Industrial Reform.

Adopted at Washington Feb. 22, 1888.

Whereas, It is possible to secure many needed reforms under a correct financial and industrial system; therefore,

Resolved, By the industrial party, in national convention assembled at the city of Washington, D. C., on the 22d day of February, 1888:

1. That the government shall provide full legal-tender money sufficient in volume to meet the requirements of the people.

2. That the secretary of the treasury shall immediately redeem all public interest-bearing bonds.

3. That all banks of issue shall be abolished.

4. That the privilege of voting is inherent in citizenship and the right to vote should be accorded to women.

The nominees of the convention were: For president, Albert E. Redstone of California, and for vice-president, John Calvin of Kansas.

STATE ELECTIONS OF 1889.

Iowa Republicans.

Adopted at Des Moines Aug. 15, 1889.

Resolved, That the republican party of Iowa, in convention assembled, congratulates the country on the restoration of the party to power in the federal government. We indorse the administration of President Harrison as eminently wise, loyal, and just. We favor a liberal construction of the pension laws, and such further legislation as will secure to the old soldier his just dues from a government he has faithfully served and which he has enriched by his sacrifice.

2. That we demand of congress the protection of American industry when it does not foster trusts or trade conspiracies, and we demand the same protection for farm products that is given to the products of the labor of other classes.

3. That we reaffirm the principle and policy of state railway regulation. We favor maintaining equality among all localities and individuals, and we oppose the granting of favor to one class of citizens denied the others. And, should experience demonstrate the necessity, we favor such changes in the law as should be made in the interests of right and justice to all. We urge upon congress the absolute prevention of rebates and discriminations on railways, which foster monopolies and prevent competition.

4. That it is the duty of the state and federal governments to enact and execute laws to punish trade conspiracies, trusts, and combines, designed to limit the production of the necessaries of life, unnaturally disturb and raise prices, and interfere with the natural course of trade, and which injuriously divert trade and traffic from the cities and towns of Iowa to commercial centers outside of our borders.

5. That we reaffirm the past utterances of the republican party of Iowa upon prohibition, which has become the settled policy of the state, and upon which there should be no backward step. We stand for the complete enforcement of the law.

6. That we extend a hearty welcome to the four new states which have been so long knocking at the door of the union, and we congratulate them on republican success, whereby their admission into the sisterhood of states was so happily achieved.

7. That we deplore the loss of life on our railways and the dangers attending so many of our citizens engaged in railway employment, and we urge upon the legislature to take such practical steps as will secure all possible protection to this class of our people.

8. That we favor the establishment of courts of arbitration for the settlement of differences between corporations and organized labor.

9. That we profoundly sympathize with the bona-fide settlers on the Des Moines river lands, and we express the hope that in the end they will be made secure in the rights to which they are entitled.

10. That we earnestly indorse the eminently wise, vigorous, and courageous administration of Gov. Larrabee, and we approve his policy that all laws shall be fearlessly and honestly enforced.

Iowa Democrats.

Adopted at Sioux City Sept. 18, 1889.

The democracy of Iowa, in convention assembled, indorse the declaration of principles made by the democracy of St. Louis in 1888. We renew our opposition to the unconstitutional policy of high tariff taxation, which robs the many to enrich the few, lays its heaviest burdens on the farmer, the mechanic, and the day laborer, gives no return through any channel to those whom it daily robs, and fosters trusts, which are the legitimate results of our present tariff system, and we denounce the fallacy of the republican state platform of Iowa that a high tariff is or can be any protection to the farmer.

Resolved, That we favor the Australian system of voting, to the end that we may have an honest ballot, uncontrolled by bribery or employers.

Resolved, That we recognize the doctrine of state and national control of railroads and other corporations, and approve the same as an efficient means of protecting the people against unjust, discriminating, and oppressive rates.

Resolved, That in the interest of true temperance we demand the passage of a carefully guarded license-tax law, which shall provide for the issuance of licenses in towns, townships, and muncipalities of the state by vote of the people of such corporations, and which shall provide that each license and annual tax of $500 be paid into the county treasury; and such further tax as the town, township, or municipal corporation shall prescribe, the proceeds thereof to go to the use of such municipalities.

Resolved, That we also arraign the republican party for changing the pharmacy laws of the state, by which a great hardship was worked to honorable pharmacists and upon all the people requiring liquors for the actual necessities of medicine.

Resolved, That while we demand that all honorably discharged union soldiers who were injured in the line of duty or who are unable by reason of age or infirmities to support themselves shall receive liberal pensions and the special care of the government, we denounce as an insult to every brave soldier, and as making the pension roll a roll of dishonor, the decision of the present national administration that "the dishonorable discharge of a soldier from the service of the United States is no bar to a pension."

Resolved, That we honestly invite the cooperation of all persons, irrespective of former party affiliations, who approve of the foregoing resolutions to unite with us in the election of an executive and legislature who will carry out these principles.

Iowa Prohibitionists.

Adopted at Cedar Rapids June 6, 1889.

The prohibition party of Iowa, in convention at Cedar Rapids, June 6, 1889, submit to the consideration of the people of this commonwealth the following platform of principles:

1. We acknowledge Almighty God as the source of all power in human government.

2. The manufacture, importation, exportation, transportation, and sale of alcoholic beverages shall be made public crimes and be prohibited and punished as such.

3. Such prohibition must be secured through amendments of our national and state constitutions, enforced by adequate laws supported by administrative authority; and to this end the organization of the prohibition party is imperatively demanded in both state and nation.

4. Any form of license, taxation, or regulation of the liquor traffic in the state or nation is contrary to good government.

5. Believing in civil and political equality of the sexes, that none should be taxed without representation, that the right of suffrage rests on no mere circumstance of race, color, nationality, or sex, and that the ballot in the hands of woman is her right for protection and would prove a powerful ally for the abolition of the liquor traffic, we favor and demand the submission of the question of equal suffrage to a popular vote.

6. We declare for the preservation and defense of the sabbath as a civil institution, without oppressing any who religiously observe the same on any other than the first day of the week.

7. Arbitration is the Christian, wise, and economical method of settling national differences, and the same method should by judicious legislation be applied to the settlement of disputes between employes and employers; that the abolition of the saloon would largely remove the burdens—moral, physical, pecuniary, and social—which now oppress labor and rob it of its earnings, and would prove to be the wise and successful way of promoting labor reform; and we invite labor and capital to unite with us for this end.

8. We firmly oppose all monopolies and trusts, either by individuals or corporations, which unjustly oppress the toiling masses, whether railroads, telegraph lines, land syndicates, oil or express companies, or unjust tariffs.

9. Our immigration laws should be so enforced as to prevent the introduction into our country of all convicts, inmates of dependent institutions, and others physically incapacitated for self-support; and we invite to our shores subjects of all other governments who come with a view of becoming loyal American citizens.

10. We favor the adoption of the Australian method of conducting elections.

11. We favor such a change in the national constitution as shall enable us to elect our president, vice-president, and United States senators by direct vote.

12. We take this occasion to express our joy and thanksgiving to God that He has raised up that noble army of women known as the Woman's Christian Temperance union. We revere the name of that greatest woman of our day, Frances E. Willard, to whom is committed the leadership of this grand organization. "For God and Home and Native Land," we realize that the aim of this white-ribbon army is the same as that of the prohibition party, and we grasp the right hand of fellowship which they extend to us, with solemn vows to be that power in the politics of this nation which shall cause the divine reforms begun in the crusade to become a permanent reality in our government.

Iowa Union Labor.

Adopted at Des Moines Sept. 5, 1889.

The union labor or greenback party of Iowa speaks again as it has spoken before. It will never surrender! It will reorganize in every county and renew the battle against the modern Philistines who rule to ruin. The policy so long pursued by the republicans and adopted by the democrats during their late administration of contracting the currency of the country and locking up in cellars one-third of all the money in the United States to inflate the value of every dollar and every debt has demoralized prices until our farmers, manufacturers, and business men are being driven into trusts or bankruptcy. This policy has been hid behind a mock tariff war. While forcing the country through a financial hell it is entertained by a ceaseless wrangle about tariff taxes. The greenbackers have faithfully and constantly warned the country that the present distress would follow the financial crimes of its rulers.

We indorse the national union labor platform adopted at Cincinnati last year.

We pledge the people of Iowa that if we can obtain the power we will

1. Amend the United States constitution so as to give the people the right to elect United States senators by direct vote, and thus establish popular, instead of corporate, government.

2. We will call in President Cleveland's free loan to the banks of $60,000,000. We will pay the public debt at its face, as we have a right to under the constitution and laws, thus using the hundreds of millions of money now locked up and saving the annual tax of nearly $50,000,000 for bondholders. We will supply enough money to place business upon a cash basis, increase prices, and enable debtors to save their homes. We will further loan money upon farms and other good security as cheap as bondholders now get it from the United States treasury and on as long a time.

3. We will condemn and purchase the railroads, telegraph lines, and other means of commerce, or build new systems and operate them at cost, instead of charging all the traffic will bear. Until this can be done nationally we will reduce railroad fare to 2 cents a mile on all first-class railroads, and reduce official salaries in proportion to the increase in the value of money, and reduce the legal rate of interest.

4. We will reclaim all unearned land grants and protect settlers from speculators by a graduated land tax.

5. We will re-establish the income tax.

6. We will adopt the Australian ballot system.

7. We will enforce the laws of Iowa against the rich as well as the poor and put down such open rebellion as flourishes now in parts of the state and is winked at by traitors in office.

8. We will secure the industrial education of every neglected child, so as to prepare them for useful lives instead of the penitentiary.

9. We will make the soldier's money during the war equal in value to that paid the bondholder. We will protect honest miners and other workingmen from the humiliation of being forced to sign away their rights in an iron-clad contract as a condition of labor.

Michigan Republicans.

Adopted at Detroit Feb. 21, 1889.

Resolved, By the Republicans of Michigan, in convention assembled, that we congratulate the country upon the magnificent victory achieved by the republican party at the last general election, and rejoice at the conspicuous part taken by our own commonwealth in redeeming the National administration, both executive and legislative, from democratic control.

Resolved, That we send greeting to our successful leader, Benjamin Harrison, president-elect, whose lofty character and broad statesmanship distinguished him as an ideal candidate, assuring him of our unwavering confidence and pledging our hearty support in the duties soon to be assumed.

Resolved, That we reaffirm the principles adopted by the republican party in state and national conventions, upon which the last great victory has been achieved, and that we pledge anew our fidelity to such principles.

Michigan Democrats.

Adopted at Grand Rapids Feb. 28, 1889.

The democratic party of Michigan, proud of the lofty statesmanship and rugged honesty of its national administration under Grover Cleveland, and of the maxims of liberty it has promulgated in the past, with firm reliance on the honesty and integrity of the people and unfaltering faith in the ultimate success of true policies of government, appeals to the people in support of the following declaration:

Equal rights for all men and special privileges for none. All laws should aim to confer the greatest good on the greatest number, and no law ought to be enacted for the special benefit of any class of citizens to the injury of others.

It is the duty of the state to guard the ballot-box from the influence of corruption and fraud, and we memorialize the legislature to enact all necessary laws to secure a free and uncorrupted ballot and a fair count.

The democracy of Michigan congratulate the Hon. Charles Stewart Parnell and his worthy co-laborers for home rule for Ireland, upon his triumphant vindication from the calumnious charges of the infamous Tory Times and its more infamous abettors, the Tory government of Great Britain.

Michigan Prohibitionists.

Adopted at Lansing Feb. 27, 1889.

The prohibitionists of Michigan, in convention assembled, congratulate their party upon the splendid showing made in the last campaign by the friends of the American home against the American saloon. After one of the most exciting campaigns that our country has ever witnessed we find ourselves not only in the field with ranks unbroken and colors flying but even with substantial advances all along the line, more thoroughly convinced than ever that ours is the only possible solution of the problem connected with the liquor traffic and confident of its final triumph.

Conscious of the righteousness of our cause, we hereby declare our unwavering allegiance to the national prohibition party, reaffirming the principles of that party as embodied in the national platform of 1888.

Resolved, That we are unalterably opposed to any law which legalizes the traffic in intoxicating beverages in any portion of our state or nation, by whatever name such law may be known.

Resolved, That the interests of our republic demand such ballot reforms as will insure to every voter an absolutely secret and honestly counted ballot.

Montana Republicans.

Adopted at Anaconda Aug. 23, 1889.

The republicans of Montana, assembled for the first time in their history to nominate candidates for state officers, salute their fellow-citizens of the United States in gratitude for their recognition of the right of this people to be admitted to an equal footing with the original states, to be henceforth forever an integral part of the American union. Mindful of the duties and dignities of such high companionship, we pledge all the people of Montana to patriotism and moderation in action, fortitude in disaster, serenity in peril, and magnanimity in victory. Grateful to all their countrymen for the achievements of the past, the renown and felicities of the present, and the promise of the future, the republicans of Montana are inspired with a high purpose to contribute to the excellence of the institutions of their country, whose wisdom and beneficence are alike the pride and promise of our civilization. We congratulate our three sister states now stepping with us into high political estate upon the sober and courageous spirit in which they are accepting their new duties and responsibilities. We share with them the determination to perform nobly and well the labors which statehood imposes, that in so marked a degree has characterized them in the work of preparation.

We affirm that the democratic party is not worthy of the confidence of a patriotic people.

To prove this let facts be submitted in candor to our countrymen.

It has surrendered the rights of American citizens on land and sea to Great Britain, at the same time treating weaker nations with undignified and overbearing insolence.

It has shown its inability to deal in a spirit of genuine Americanism with complications arising in defiance of our citizens abroad.

It has neglected and refused to encourage our merchant marine.

It has manifested its hostility to the veterans of our wars by grudgingly and ungraciously granting only such pensions as public indignation could extort.

It has sought to debase the workingman of America by subjecting him to an unjust competition with foreign toil.

In a large part of the union it has made citizenship a mockery and the ballot a delusion and a snare.

Throughout the republic its purposes are mischievous and its influence malign.

Toward the people of Montana it has exhibited a spirit of venomous malignity.

Its president could not await his accession to official power until he sought to depreciate silver, which is one of our great industrial products.

It visited upon our citizens an odious system of espionage, and revived a perverted construction of an obsolete law to harass them with causeless prosecutions.

It sought to set aside patents to farms and mines after they had been obtained in strict conformity to law.

It exhausted the resources of ingenuity in the invention of technicalities to embarrass the acquisition of titles to homesteads and mining claims.

In shameless violation of its delusive pledges it imported officers from other states to rule over us.

It worked the utter demoralization of our postal service.

It retarded inexcusably the survey of the public domain within our borders.

It placed in imminent peril the industries of mining and grazing and aimed a deadly blow at the interests in which the prosperity of all our people are vitally involved.

In happy contrast to all these crimes against our people, we point to the present republican administration, affirming that it has reversed this hostile and unpatriotic history and has brought itself into harmony with all the practical, intellectual, and moral impulses of this enterprising and loyal people. Among the results which it has thus vouchsafed to us, the privileges conferred upon citizens respecting the public domain are easy of attainment, titles are made secure, vast sums of money have been added to the value of our fleeces and minerals, labor is insured of a generous reward, the unjust exemption from duties of foreign lead is in hopeful process of reform, and all policies conducive to the material welfare of Montana are hospitably entertained by an administration that manifests toward the great new west a spirit of continental statesmanship.

We especially indorse, as worthy of all commendation, the administration of Benjamin Harrison, president of the United States, for his unswerving patriotism in purpose, his wisdom in action, his deference to our aspirations for home government, his desire to augment the rewards of labor and enterprise, and his abiding determination to protect the interests and honor of the republic throughout the world. We declare anew that the chief purpose of the republican party, second only to the preservation of the union and the intrenchment of our liberties, is the protection of our industries, the elevation of American labor, and the just compensation of the workingman.

While we welcome to our mountains and valleys all honest immigrants who are willing to assume the responsibilities and discharge the duties of American citizens, yet we urge upon our senators and representatives in congress to use all their influence in so modifying our immigration laws as to prevent the influx of the criminal and pauper classes of Europe, who become a menace to our free institutions and a burden to the honest industries of our country.

We pledge those who shall represent us in the congress of the United States to maintain as standards of value the precious metals that have been recognized as such from the beginning of historic time.

We recognize that the welfare of Montana demands the maintenance of the existing duties on wool, lead, and copper.

We denounce the democratic majority in the late constitutional convention for having for no other cause than a narrow partisanship ousted the officers of the several counties of the territory before the expiration of the term for which they were chosen under provision of law.

We ask for such legislation as will subject to taxation property not exempt by our law, other than that of the United States, that may be located upon military and Indian reservations within the boundaries of the state.

We call upon our senators and representatives to put forth their utmost exertions for the reduction of the Indian reservations in Montana to the narrowest possible limits that may be found consistent with the duties of the general government toward the several tribes.

We commend to the suffrages of the voters of Montana the nominees of this convention in the assurance that they are men of unimpeachable integrity, thorough capability for the duties to which they are respectively assigned, and unswerving fidelity to the principles of the party of union, justice, and progress.

We appeal to the people of Montana in entering upon the enjoyment of their political rights to identify themselves with the party organized to protect and defend the liberties our fathers won, to save and extend the noble republic they created; the party with a history which is equally the history of this nation; the party that has met and conquered the greatest emergencies that ever confronted valor and statesmanship; the party that has accomplished a national prosperity heretofore unknown to the pages of human history; the party to which alone can be intrusted the welfare and honor of the American republic.

Resolved, That the administration of Benjamin F. White has been faithful to the great interests of Montana and entitles him to the lasting gratitude of his countrymen.

Montana Democrats.

Adopted at Helena Aug. 27, 1889.

The democratic party of Montana, in state convention assembled, on behalf of the people of the territory return their grateful thanks to the members of the democratic party in the congress of the United States for formulating and carrying to a successful conclusion the measure which admits Montana and three of her neighboring territories to the union of states. We regret that in consequence of the opposition of the republican party in congress it was necessary to sacrifice the rights of a sister territory against which this opposition was ostensibly directed, although, in fact, it was to the entire measure, which was inspired by the desire to postpone the whole matter until the advent of the administration of President Harrison, who was himself the principal opponent in the senate of the bill to admit Montana in the year 1886.

We denounce the republican majority in the last legislature for refusing to memorialize congress in favor of, and the republican press of the territory and the delegate-elect to congress for their opposition to and criticism of, the admission bill, which deserved the hearty support of all our citizens. The course of these republicans was wanting in patriotism, subordinated the interests of the people of Montana to considerations of party advantage, and evinced a disposition to keep the spoils of their recent victory at the expense of the hopes of the state.

We indorse the principles of the democratic party and pledge ourselves to the task of maintaining them by all honorable and lawful means. It is a matter of pride that our party has always carefully guarded the liberties of the people by the enactment of wise laws, and has so enforced them as to preserve to all equal and exact justice. Experience shows and history demonstrates that the success of the democratic party will insure a more careful and economical expenditure of the people's money, a more wise selection of public servants, and an administration freed from the charges so often made that monopolies and trusts receive more consideration under the laws than the rights of individuals.

We go before the people with a record for the wise government and economical administration of the finances of the territory of Montana from the beginning, of which we may be justly proud. We have maintained the blessings of good government, and by wise and liberal laws have secured the settlement, development, and welfare of the territory. We have guarded its treasury against schemes of plunder and extravagant salaries and expenditures, and at the end of twenty-five years left it not only free from debt but with a surplus of $140,000 in the treasury, which the reckless and extravagant enactments of the first republican legislature will have well nigh dissipated by the time of our admission as a state. We pledge ourselves to the restoration of the practices of economy so necessary in the government of a new and struggling commonwealth.

We repudiate the allegation that the democratic party favors free trade. Revenue for the needs of the government must be raised by a tariff on imports, but the duty should be so adjusted that every section and every industry shall enjoy equality under the law, that trusts and monopolies shall be prevented, labor protected, and industries encouraged. In common with all the American people, we demand such a revision of the tariff as will do away with unnecessary taxation, prevent a dangerous and demoralizing surplus, reduce the cost of the necessaries of life while affording perfect protection to American labor. In any revisions of the tariff we pledge the votes of our senators and representatives to carefully guard the welfare of Montana and secure the highest value to the product of our flocks, our herds, our farms, our forests, and our mines.

We favor the free and unlimited coinage of silver as of gold, and we arraign the republican party as the persistent enemy of silver, which was demonetized while that party was in full possession of every branch of the government.

We cordially approve of the course of the Hon. J. K. Toole, who, as a delegate in congress from this territory, strenuously sought to compel an enforcement of the existing law whereby lead in combination with gold or silver should pay the duty provided by law, and we deprecate the action of a republican judiciary committee of the senate which made his efforts unavailing by reporting adversely upon a resolution looking to that end. We demand of the honorable secretary of the treasury a prompt decision touching this question, which involves the interests of the lead-producing districts of the west.

We arraign the republican party for the violation of its pledges to the people in failing to carry out the spirit and principles of civil-service reform in its administration of the government. Perverted views of public duty on the part of the federal executive have led to a lowering of tone in the entire civil service of the country from the high standard to which it was elevated by the late democratic administration; offices have been bestowed for private ends or party needs; the public good everywhere made subservient to personal or family demands.

The failure of the administration to enforce the Chinese exclusion act is not in accordance with the platform on which President Harrison was elected but is quite in keeping with his expressed opinions and his votes in the senate.

We believe it unwise on the part of the government of the United States to attempt any speculation out of the timber in Montana by selling the same to its consumers, but believe that in the end more can be realized out of it by allowing the people to use the same without stint and free of charge, and thus facilitate the growth and development of the country.

The republican party in this territory, though always in a minority, have ever sought to obtain ascendency by depriving the people of a free and full election. In this nature were the test oaths proposed by republican leaders in the early days to disfranchise portions of the people. Of such nature is the registry law passed at the last session of the legislature. Although ostensibly framed to secure a fair election it is ingeniously contrived to practically disfranchise large numbers of our citizens residing in places remote and difficult of access. We favor the enactment of such laws as will secure pure elections and throw all possible safeguards around the ballot. In towns and populous districts registration is a check against repeating and fraud; but we submit that the present law seems to have been framed to throw every impediment in the way of lawful electors.

The thanks of the people of Montana are due and are hereby tendered to the Hon. Joseph K. Toole for his able and successful efforts in behalf of the enabling act, whereby the people of Montana at this time are about to enter upon the enlarged sphere of American citizenship guaranteed to citizens of the several states of the union.

Nebraska Republicans.

Adopted at Hastings Oct. 10, 1889.

We, the republicans of Nebraska, in convention assembled, indorse the administration of President Harrison and reaffirm our faith in the doctrines of the republican party as enunciated in the Chicago platform of 1888, and pledge to the administration our hearty support.

We congratulate the new states of North and South Dakota, Washington, and Montana on their advent into the union under the fostering influences of a republican administration, and welcome them to the sisterhood of states.

We commend the policy of the administration in the cultivation of closer relations with our sister nations of the new world.

The republican party, pledged to the correction of abuses in the past, will in the future relax no effort to enforce its theory that all corporations are the servants, not the masters, of the people, and renew those pledges for the future.

We commend the action of congress in its efforts to redeem the arid lands of the western territories by a national system of irrigation.

We commend the action of congress in passing the disability pension bill—no soldier, whether disabled in the service or elsewhere, should be permitted to end his days in a poor-house—and condemn the interposition of any statute against the protectors and preservers of the nation in their old age.

We condemn any theory of states' rights which shall be held to prevent the government from protecting all its citizens in the enjoyment of all their civil and political rights.

Nebraska Democrats.

Adopted at Omaha Oct. 15, 1889.

As democrats and as representatives of an exclusively agricultural commonwealth we denounce and protest against the protective-tariff policy of the republican party, which makes the United States the most excessively taxed country in Christendom; which makes the rich richer and the poor poorer; which, by law, makes farming unprofitable in every state and territory of the union by artificially lifting the prices of all the farmer has to buy, and enormously reducing the prices of all he has to sell by destroying his natural markets.

We denounce and protest against appropriations to irrigate desert lands, because the farmers of the United States should not be further taxed to create competition for their farms and themselves. We have already enough arable land to glut a home market, and put therein nearly all farm products at prices below the cost of production. Until the tariff taxes are taken off the farmer can stand no such hostile legislation, such decree of forage upon existing farms, such requisition for the creation of his own competitors.

We denounce as a perversion of the legislative power the sugar-bounty law enacted at the last legislature, which seeks to bestow upon private corporations money raised by taxation, under the plea of encouraging home industries. We also condemn such legislation as an illegal interference with interstate commerce and an application of the protective principles to state government.

We regard with interest the present session of the Pan-American congress, called together by a democratic administration, and hereby express the hope that the attention of delegates from abroad may not be called to the official utterances and literature of the republican party, lest they be convinced that our national wealth and greatness are due to the decadence of foreign commerce and be led to follow our example and exclude our products from the South American republics.

We denounce and protest against subsidies, either of public lands or public moneys, to steamship lines, railway companies, or to any other private corporation. We protest against the loan of the public credit or to the extension of any loan already made to either the Central Pacific, the Union Pacific, or any other railroad company.

We demand that the government shall enforce payment of corporations in default, as it does of individuals, by due process of law. Let their property be sold, when the mortgages become due, to the highest bidder. Then the roads can be capitalized for less money, fixed charges be reduced, and more reasonable transportation rates secured.

Believing that the object of government is best attained by giving to the individual the largest liberty consistent with public safety, we regard with distrust the various forms of sumptuary legislation and accept a well-regulated and carefully guarded license law as the most practicable solution of the liquor question.

We are opposed to all class legislation, state or national, and protest against the encouragement or discouragement of special industries by law, believing that such matters can be safely left to the good sense of the people.

We commend the democratic utterance of Corporal Tanner, late commissioner of pensions, that "the affidavit of a private soldier shall be worth as much as that of a commissioned officer," but we protest against the prevalent abuses of the pension bureau, which threaten to swamp not only the public revenue but likewise all common-sense distinctions between honorably discharged soldiers and deserters; between disabilities incurred in the service and those contracted since; between worthy veterans who in old age need their country's help, and exuberantly healthy, robust gentlemen of independent means whose patriotic pride should scorn to accept that help.

We denounce as fraudulent the pensions for chronic diseases drawn by men who at the same time secure and carry policies of life insurance. No good government will fail to pension a soldier who has contracted a disabling chronic disease in its service. No good life-insurance company can or will insure a person known to have chronic disease. But good government and good life insurance should jointly take effective care that the pension for having a chronic disease and the policy for not having a chronic disease be not issued to the same man. Either the pension or the policy in such cases is a swindle. Both cannot be honest. Therefore, we demand an elimination of all fraudulent pensioners from the rolls, so that deserving soldiers may thus enhance their security for the just debt which the government righteously owes to them.

Nebraska Prohibitionists.

Adopted at Lincoln Aug. 21, 1889.

The prohibition party of Nebraska, in state convention assembled, acknowledge Almighty God as the Supreme Being of the universe, heartily indorse the platform and principles enunciated by the national prohibition party in convention at Indianapolis in 1888.

The recent purchase of numerous extensive breweries by an English syndicate that already owns nearly all the saloons in Great Britain and Ireland, with the avowed purpose of likewise controlling the saloons of America, and through them the politics of America, renders ten fold greater the culpability of him who fails to identify himself at once with a political party that declares in unmistakable terms its undying hostility to this kind of foreign domination through the agency of the criminal classes. This demonstrates the foresight and correct position of the prohibitionists in demanding and working for national constitutional prohibition. We arraign the republican party of Nebraska for its double-dealing and treachery to the cause of the people of this state, as made manifest in the dual submission bill which passed the last legislature, submitting the prohibitory amendment to avoid political wreck, and at the same time submitting the license amendment without petition, thus indicating to every republican partisan that the defeat of prohibition is to be accomplished in the interest of republican distillers, breweries, and saloonkeepers, who, in turn, are to remain loyal to the party of high license.

We pledge the unanimous support of the prohibition party press and political machinery to the pending prohibitory amendment, and demand of the republican party and party press that they no longer deceive the people, but take position either for or against prohibition, that all may know on which side the party machinery is being used.

We recognize in the Nebraska Non-Partisan Amendment league an organization that may greatly assist in carrying the amendment, and while we believe they err in not antagonizing every party and candidate for office who opposes the amendment, nevertheless we commend their ardor and evident sincerity and bid them godspeed.

We favor the complete enfranchisement of women.

As the Australian ballot system embodies the best protection to the voter in his rights, therefore we urge its speedy adoption.

We favor a national eight-hour working law.

We declare opposition to all trusts and monopolies, of which the liquor traffic is the chief.

We rejoice in the wonderfully wide and pure work of that godly sisterhood the Woman's Christian Temperance union and commend its bold and well-managed attack upon the stronghold of legally entrenched vice.

We hold the saloons largely responsible for the alarming increase of the desecration of the sabbath and as the training school of anarchy. Its riotous disregard of Sunday law in Cincinnati and other cities, defying state and municipal authority, is full evidence of their set purpose to violate the order and sanctity of the day. Believing that the wage-earner is worthy of his hire, and believing that the largest revenue to the saloon comes through the laboring classes, and believing that the saloon thus stands in the way of the elevation and advancement of labor, therefore we invite the wage-earners of every class to join our party in its war against this greatest and most conscienceless monopoly the world has known.

We favor governmental control of railroads and telegraph lines.

As a platform of principles can only become practical through a party pledged to their enforcement, therefore we urge every one opposed to the saloon and its attending evils to unite with the prohibition party, the only party committed to the adoption of the amendment and its enforcement thereafter.

North Dakota Republicans.

Adopted at Fargo Aug. 23, 1889.

Resolved, That as republicans of North Dakota, in convention assembled, we reaffirm the platform of principles enunciated by the national republican convention assembled in Chicago in June, 1888, and heartily indorse the administration of President Harrison; that we hail with unfeigned pleasure the near approach to statehood; and in this our first state convention, with that in view, we congratulate the republican party of North Dakota upon its thorough organization and the happy blending in its ranks of our native and foreign-born citizens, of whatever nationality or previous political opinions, into one harmonious union with the great national republican party; a party which secures to the emigrant his homestead, his pre-emption, or his tree claims, and welcomes him to a heritage such as no other government can offer; a party which stands for American honor, power, progress, and prosperity; which demands ample remuneration for labor and full security to capital; which advocates pure, true, popular government, moral, intellectual, and material development, and the comfort and sanctity of the American home.

That we fully and unreservedly recognize agriculture as the paramount material interest of North Dakota; that there should not and reasonably cannot be any antagonism between this and the commercial, manufacturing, mechanical, or other interests, because all these are inseparably identified with the great central agricultural interest and depend upon its prosperity for their own success. We therefore declare it to be the duty, as it should be the pleasure, of all men who may be placed in public position by the people of North Dakota to oppose every unjust encroachment of corporations or trusts upon the rights or interests of the farmers, and to so administer the government in all its branches as will be best conducive to the welfare, the prosperity, and the advancement of our agricultural people.

That we are uncompromisingly in favor of the American system of protection by such properly regulated import duties upon foreign products as will stimulate every industry and protect the wages of our vast army of labor against the unfair competition of the serfs of Russia, the ryots of India, the coolies of China, and the pauper labor of other nations.

That we honor that grand army of men who followed Grant, Sherman, and Sheridan until permanent and enduring peace was established by their victories and sacrifices, and we are in favor of granting equitable and liberal pensions to all honorably discharged soldiers and sailors, and that the flags stay where they are.

That we view with pride our educational facilities, the flourishing condition of our common schools, colleges, and university, and we demand that the grand inheritance of land provided for their maintenance in perpetuity shall be guarded with zealous care.

The republican party, viewing with unfeigned regret the growing evil of intemperance in our land, declares itself in sympathy with all well-directed efforts calculated to suppress the vice; that we cordially approve the wsidom of the constitutional convention in providing for the submission to a vote of the people of the question of prohibition in accordance with the expressed wish of the organized temperance associations of North Dakota, and in the event of its adoption by the people pledge ourselves to a strict enforcement of the laws and to enact such legislation as may be necessary to that end.

Resolved, That the watchword of the republican party of North Dakota should be economy in the management and conduct of the governmental offices of the new state.

That this convention of delegates assembled advise and recommend a conservative course in making appropriations for the purpose of building public institutions, in order that during the period of financial depression in the state nothing be done to increase the burden of taxation on the people.

North Dakota Democrats.

Adopted at Fargo Aug. 29, 1889.

The democratic party of the state of North Dakota, in convention assembled, renews the pledge of its fidelity to the democratic faith and reaffirms the platform adopted at the last democratic national convention; and it is hereby

Resolved, That we recognize the people as the source of all power in the state and favor only such a system of laws as shall preserve to them the greatest personal liberty; and we are unalterably opposed to granting any privileges or passing any sumptuary laws which shall bind the people against their will without the right to change.

Resolved, That we pledge the democratic party of the new state to maintain in all its integrity the universal and inalienable right of the people to mold a state wherein the golden mean of justice and equality in sharing the burdens and blessings of free government between all classes alike, whether producers, consumers, or capitalists, shall be preserved.

Resolved, That we favor such measures as shall correct the present inequalities in taxation, direct and indirect, whereby the toiler of field and workshop is despoiled of the chief portion of his earnings, and pledge our best efforts to correct the wrongs which have been the outgrowth of many years of republican extravagance and corruption in office.

Resolved, That, agriculture being the chief interest of North Dakota, it is the duty of the new state to guard closely the prosperity of our farmers and to meet in all respects their wishes. We further pledge our representatives and senators in congress to labor to this end, and especially to urge the importance of changing the government policy in the improvements of our rivers so that by locks, dams, and canals the surplus waters of the wet season may be stored and utilized for agriculture and commerce.

Resolved, That, our people being mainly producers of grain and consumers of articles of manufacture, it is to their interest that the present high protective tariff, the creature of corporate greed and monopoly, be so modified and reduced that all imports be levied strictly within constitutional limits and according to the Jeffersonian rule, preventing both extortion and extravagance. We pledge our representatives and senators to labor for the correction of these evils in our system of taxation.

Resolved, That, we are in favor of the absolute repeal of all customs duties on lumber, salt, binding twine, and on all raw material entering into the manufacture of farm machinery and household utensils, and on all the necessaries of life, so that while our farmers and laborers are compelled to to compete with the pauper labor of Europe and the ryots of India in the growing and sale of the products of the soil they shall not be compelled to purchase in the artificial markets of high protection.

Resolved, That we express our gratitude to that army of noble patriots whose heroic efforts and loyalty preserved the union and insured perpetual liberty, dignity, and prosperity to the people of the United States, and recommend all necessary legislation looking toward their relief and comfort.

South Dakota Republicans.

Adopted at Huron Aug. 29, 1889.

Resolved, That as republicans of the state of South Dakota, in our first convention assembled, we reaffirm the principles enunciated in their platform by the national republican convention assembled in Chicago in June, 1888, and we most heartily indorse the administration of President Harrison and Gov. Mellette. We hail with unfeigned pleasure the privileges of statehood soon to be ours, and we congratulate the republican party that they hold those principles in which all industries can find true protection and in which all citizens, without regard to nationality, can harmonize; and we congratulate our people that through the power of these principles they have now their rights of homestead, pre-emption, and timber claim in our public lands restored to them.

We favor those laws which give full remuneration to labor and secure capital in its rights. We recognize agriculture, mining, and manufacturing as the paramount material interests of our state, and we deprecate any law which separates these from the commercial and industrial interests of our people, as we are dependent upon the harmony of all these great interests for our success. We, therefore, declare it to be the duty, as it should be the pleasure, of all men placed in office by the people to oppose any unjust encroachments of corporations or trusts upon the rights of any of our citizens, and to so administer the government in all its branches as will conduce to the welfare and advancement of all our people.

We view with pride our educational facilities, the flourishing condition of our public schools, colleges, and universities, and we demand that our school lands be jealously guarded.

We honor our old soldiers and favor liberal pensions to all those who hold an honorable discharge. We also favor wise and liberal provisions for the care and maintenance of all who are needy and disabled.

We most heartily sympathize with the Irish people in their desire for home rule.

We heartily favor the American system of protection—such properly regulated import duty on foreign produce as will stimulate every industry and will fully protect our vast army of workmen against the unfair competition of criminal and pauper laborers of the old world.

We most heartily welcome to our fellowship the people who have come to us from foreign lands to find a home in this the country of their adoption, intending to render due respect to its laws.

We favor the enactment of such laws as will protect the citizen in the free exercise of his right of suffrage and will insure fair and honest elections.

We favor the equal and just taxation of property.

Recognizing the pernicious influences of the traffic in intoxicating liquors upon every interest of our commonwealth, we favor national and state prohibition of such traffic and the adoption of the article of our constitution relating thereto, and the enactment and enforcement of such laws as will make the same effective.

The great agricultural interests of Dakota demand that they should be protected, fostered, and guarded with jealous care and such laws enacted as will secure equitable rates of transportation allowing no unjust discrimination against sections or individuals. We favor the improvement of the great waterways of the northwest so as to bring close competition in the carrying trade. We favor a warehouse law which will give every farmer a free market for his produce and which will not leave him at the mercy of an elevator or railroad combination.

We advise and urge prompt and liberal action on the part of the state and nation toward the establishment of a comprehensive system of irrigation for such portions of our state as would be benefited thereby.

We favor the establishment of a bureau of labor and statistics, that we may have accurate information in regard to the education, moral and financial conditions, and needs of the laboring masses. We also favor the prohibition by law of the employment of children under 16 years of age in mines, shops, and factories.

We favor the election of railroad commissioners and giving them ample authority by statute for the protection of the people against exorbitant rates and unjust discrimination, and we favor such a system of railroad inspection and supervision as will promote the convenience and safety of the people.

We view with alarm the dangerous encroachments of the numerous trusts forming all over our land, and demand the enactment of stringent laws, state and national, declaring the formation of all trusts and combinations for the purpose of controlling or enhancing the price of any of the necessaries of life unlawful and contrary to public policy, and providing for their suppression and the punishment of all parties implicated therein.

South Dakota Democrats.

Adopted at Huron Sept. 5, 1889.

The democratic party of South Dakota, in its first state convention assembled, pledges its loyalty to the democratic faith as expressed in the national democratic platform of 1888, and indorses the views expressed by President Cleveland in his last annual message to congress relative to tariff reduction.

We pledge ourselves to continue the battle for tariff reform until the present unjust and unnecessary war tariff is reduced and the cause of the people is triumphant.

We tender our sympathy to the suffering laboring men of the country, who in the past few months have been driven from employment by the merciless exactions of protected monopolies, unholy trusts, and heartless combines.

We congratulate the people of South Dakota that we are soon to take our place in the sisterhood of states and upon the opening to settlement of nearly eleven million acres of rich agricultural lands, both accomplished under democratic administration.

We are opposed to constitutional prohibition now demanded by the republican party of South Dakota, and favor in its stead a well-regulated license law, which is accepted by the democracy of the country as the best method of controlling the traffic in intoxicating liquors and lessening the evils of intemperance.

We extend our heartfelt sympathy to the various labor organizations and to the farming community in their efforts to improve their social and financial condition, and we pledge ourselves to assist them by every means within our power to accomplish these ends.

We acknowledge the great debt of gratitude the nation owes to the heroes of the late war, and we declare in favor of just, liberal, and equitable pension laws.

We declare in favor of minority representation and urge all fair-minded tax-payers to support the articles of our constitution relating thereto as a particular protection against the evils of vicious legislation.

We are in sympathy with the Irish people in their efforts to attain home rule and look to the day when they shall be a free people.

We heartily extend the right hand of fellowship to all people of foreign lands who come to our new state with the intent to become true and loyal citizens.

We arraign the republican party of Dakota for extravagance and mismanagement in conducting the affairs of the territorial government; that party has always had exclusive control of the law-making power of the territory. Our bonded indebtedness has been increased over $600,000 within the past three years and public institutions established not actually needed at this time.

Our revenue has exceeded $500,000 per annum, which was ample to meet all necessary expenses of territorial government. Notwithstanding this fact and the further fact that property is taxed to the full limit allowed by law, a deficiency has been created within the last six months, and the new state of South Dakota will suffer the humiliation of entering the union with a deficiency in its treasury of nearly $200,000 under the present republican misrule. This deficiency will necessarily be increased over $200,000 per annum in excess of all possible revenue receipts and over the limited indebtedness allowed by our state constitution. A swarm of clerks were employed by the last legislature equal in number to the members of both houses, and these extravagant and unnecessary appropriations were made without a due investigation as to the actual needs of the territory and over the veto of the democratic governor.

Washington Republicans.

Adopted at Walla Walla Sept. 4, 1889.

As the delegates of the republicans of Washington, in convention assembled, we congratulate our fellow-citizens upon the success of the republican party in securing the admission of our commonwealth into the union in spite of the strenuous and long-continued opposition of the democracy, whose leaders feared that the addition to the voting strength of the nation of the free and progressive commonwealth of the northwest would render of no avail the terrorism and fraud by which a free expression of political opinion in the southern states is prevented, and by which the democratic party hopes again to secure control of the national government. In thus congratulating our fellow-citizens, we urge all independent voters to unite with us in support of the party to which the admission of Washington into the union is due and in rebuking the party which has always opposed the political progress of the northwest.

We heartily commend the wise and statesmanlike administration of President Harrison, which, by the pursuit of a vigorous and consistently American policy in dealing with affairs at home and abroad, has already endeared itself to the people, and we invite a comparison of the acts of this administration with those of the recent administration, whose foreign policy consisted in bullying weak nations and truckling to strong ones, and whose domestic policy was well set forth in a free-trade message, pension vetoes, and an order for the return of the rebel flags captured by the soldiers of the union.

The many resources of Washington require the fostering care of protection for their speedy development. The doctrines enunciated at Chicago in June, 1888, by the national republican party received the indorsement of the people of Washington by nearly eight thousand majority. With renewed faith in their truth we emphatically affirm those cardinal principles and again commend them to the electors of Washington for their approbation. We fully realize that in order to be efficacious in the highest degree a protective tariff must be subject to frequent revision, but we insist that such revision must be made by the friends of protection, and not by its enemies.

We reject the fallacious idea that a tariff should be levied for revenue only and denounce the democratic party for its recent attempt to force into full competition with the pauper labor of Europe and Asia the intelligent American workingmen employed in more than one hundred lines of industry.

We assert that the republican party alone stands between the workingmen of Washington and absolute free trade in all the important products of the commonwealth, and invite the workingmen to unite with us in sending to congress men who are friends and not enemies of American labor; practical men, and not theorists; protectionists, and not free-traders.

We believe that the debt of gratitude which the nation owes to the soldiers, sailors, and marines who saved the union is too great to be repaid, and we are heartily in sympathy with all legislation which has for its object a recognition of the services or an alleviation of the sufferings of these grand men who carried the flag to victory.

We favor liberal appropriations for the improvement of our rivers and harbors, for irrigation and the reclamation of our desert lands, for the erection of coast defenses, and for the creation of a navy in keeping with the strength and greatness of the American people.

We favor also any well-directed legislation which has for its object the restoration of the American merchant marine to a position in which it will command its due share of the carrying trade of the world.

We pledge the co-operation of our congressional representatives with those of the state of Oregon to secure the speedy opening of the Columbia river to navigation.

We are opposed to the formation of trusts or combinations whose object is to raise abnormally the prices of the necessaries of life, and we believe that it is the duty of the government to prevent the formation of such combinations by all needful legislation.

We recognize it as a duty of the government to stand between the people and the unjust use of corporate power, and to this end we believe in the policy of regulation of railroads and other corporations by law.

We demand the rigid enforcement of the Chinese exclusion act, and heartily favor such other legislation as may be deemed necessary in order to put a final and effectual stop to the immigration of all who are unfit for American citizenship and unable to comprehend the fundamental principles of our government.

We believe it to be the duty of the state to provide a rigid system of inspection of mines and factories, in order that the health and lives of employes shall not be needlessly endangered.

We recognize the right and duty of labor to organize for its own protection, and heartily sympathize with every movement which has for its object the moral, material, or intellectual advancement of any of our fellow-citizens.

We indorse and reiterate the declaration in the last national platform that "the first concern of good government is the virtue and sobriety of the people and the purity of the home. The republican party heartily sympathizes with all wise and well-directed efforts for the promotion of temperance and morality."

We are in favor of a liberal expenditure of public money to the end that the people may have cheap and ample postage facilities.

We favor the speedy adjustment of the vexed land question, and pledge our delegation in congress to use every effort to protect the settlers in their rights and to favor the forfeiture of all unclaimed land grants.

We favor the adjustment by the national government of the claims presented by the pioneers of Washington because of losses sustained by Indian depredations.

We favor such legislation with regard to the tide and school lands as will best protect commerce and will insure the largest possible educational fund to the state.

We favor the opening to settlement of all Indian reservations in the state, having a due regard for the rights of the Indians.

Believing in the will of the majority, we indorse the action of the constitutional convention in submitting to the electors as separate articles the subjects of prohibition and woman suffrage.

We heartily indorse the administration of Gov. Miles C. Moore.

In conclusion, we invite the voters of this new state to cast their lot with the party which saved the union, and not with that which sought to destroy it; with the party which freed the slave, and not with that which strove to weld his shackles more firmly; with the party which upheld the credit of the nation, and not with that which favored repudiation and dishonor; with the party which cares for the widows and orphans of the soldiers of the union, and not with that which makes light of their services and insults their memory; with the party which stands for protection to American labor, and not with that which is marshaled under the banner of free trade; with the party which secured the admission of Washington into the union, and not with that which bitterly opposed the extension to our people of the ordinary rights of citizens; with the party which represents the principles of Washington, Hamilton, Webster, Clay, Lincoln, Garfield, and Grant, and not with that which represents the principles of Cobden on the one hand and Calhoun and Davis on the other.

The republican party invites all who favor honesty in government, freedom in thought, and progress in national welfare.

Washington Democrats.

Adopted at Ellensburg Sept. 10, 1889.

The democratic party of Washington, by its representatives in convention assembled, does declare:

We unqualifiedly approve the administration of President Cleveland, and we congratulate the country upon the prosperity enjoyed under it and upon the reforms inaugurated by this true apostle of democracy, and we approve the declaration of principles made by the national democracy in St. Louis in 1888.

The sums of money to meet the regular annual expenses of the government, building and maintenance of the navy and other great national works, and the payment of vast appropriations for pensions requires a revenue of such enormous proportions that we believe a tariff for these objects wisely made and adjusted will afford all the protection needed by deserving industries of the country; and we arraign the republican party for organizing a tariff to foster unnecessary monopolies, to oppress the weak and struggling industries, and so as to tax the great laboring masses for the enrichment of plutocracy and monopolists in order that the "fat" may be fried out of them with which to run the party's corrupt national campaigns.

We arraign the republican party for its duplicity and violence toward the laboring masses in the last national campaign, by which it cajoled, hoodwinked, and coerced many of them into support of its ticket, through the medium of falsehood as to the democratic policy and intentions, by pay envelopes and other nefarious devices, and by frauds and tricks; and we denounce plutocrats and monopolists who control the policies and destinies of the party for their bad faith toward their deceived victims displayed immediately after election day, when an almost universal reduction of wages or discharging of workingmen was made throughout the mining and manufacturing districts.

Standing on the verge of statehood and about to assume the manifold duties and responsibilities of state government, among the important issues before the people at this election are those to secure an honest and economical administration of state and county governments and the most perfect management and care of valuable school and other lands of the state. A thorough and efficient system of free common schools is necessary for the wellbeing of the state, and it is our duty to preserve inviolate the school fund afforded by the munificent grant of school lands made by the general government in the enabling act.

The constitution of the state should be a non-partisan document; therefore the people ought to be left free to pass on the constitution for the state of Washington without the influence of political parties.

It is the duty of the legislature of the state to enact such laws as shall fully insure and protect the rights of the laborer and wage-earner and to encourage and foster the best business interests and productive industries in the state.

We demand the enactment by the legislature of laws so regulating the opening, working, and inspection of mines that the ventilation and safety thereof may be secured and the lives of miners protected.

The Chinese exclusion act, known as the Scott law, is a democratic measure which, properly enforced, solves the vexed question of Chinese immigration, and we condemn the construction of that law by the present republican administration by which its beneficial effects are destroyed and the laws nullified.

We regard trusts in whatever form organized as the legitimate result of our present tariff, and we demand the repeal or readjustment of all such tariff taxes as enable them to extort from the people exorbitant prices for the products they control.

The democratic party of this state demands an appropriation by the general government of sufficient funds to speedily open the great Columbia river to navigation from one side of the state to the other, and pledges its representatives in congress, if elected, to labor to that end, and condemns the dilatory and wasteful course of the republican party with respect thereto. We demand the improvement by the general government of Gray's harbor and other harbors and waterways of the state and the early establishment of all necessary coast defenses.

We condemn the policy inaugurated under republican rule by which vast areas of the public domain, the heritage of the people, were granted to corporations, and landed monopolies thereby established. We demand that all such grants heretofore made, not earned in strict accordance with the granting acts, be restored to the public domain, and that they be opened to entry and settlement in small holdings by actual settlers under the public land laws of the United States; confirming, however, to actual residents of the state the title to lands purchased by them in good faith; and we heartily indorse the action to that end taken by the democratic majority in the house of representatives, and we denounce the obstructive action in the republican senate in defeating the righteous measures of the democratic house, and we especially arraign the republican party of this territory for it vacillating, inconsistent, and insincere course upon this subject.

The allotment of lands in severalty to Indians is a democratic policy, and, properly pursued, will result in the opening of large tracts of land now embraced in Indian reservations in this state; and we pledge our representatives in congress to the support of such a policy and the speedy restoration of all unnecessary portions of such lands to settlement under the land laws of the United States.

We favor the passage of just laws in conformity with and for the purposes of carrying into effect the provisions of section 18 of article XII of the proposed state constitution in relation to charges for passengers and freight, and that such laws shall fully protect the people from oppression and discrimination and be at the same time just and fair to the capital invested in transportation enterprises, and provide for the speedy adjustment of all differences between such corporations and the people.

While we recognize the patriotism and devotion to public duty of the great mass of republican voters, we declare that the republican party of the state is controlled and dominated by professional politicians and ex-federal officers intent on gaining office to such an extent as to imperil the best interests of the state in its formative period and inimical to the most perfect and safe management of the state's valuable property and other interests.

We demand the enactment by the legislature of rigid laws by which the security and purity of the ballot may be secured and maintained.

We denounce as unworthy the representations of a party professing to be respectable the falsification of history contained in the first declaration of the republican state platform concerning the admission of Washington into the union, and we call on the people to repudiate a party whose representatives deliberately go before them with a wilifully false statement in their platform. We declare that it is insulting to the intelligence of the people to make such a declaration in the face of the facts that Washington was wrested from British possessions by democratic courage, statesmanship, and diplomacy; that it was first organized as a political division by a democratic administration; that the bill for the admission of all the new states was formulated by a democratic committee, passed by a democratic house, and promptly signed by a democratic president.

This is the Legislature according to the certificates of the State Board of Canvassers. The Board threw out Tunnel precinct in Silver Bow county because of frauds. The County Clerk later issued certificates of election to several Democratic legislators affected by the rejection of that precinct, which made the Lower House Democratic. Two legislatures therefore convened. The courts of the state will have to decide which set of certificates is legal.

THE AUSTRALIAN SYSTEM.

The Australian system of voting, so called because first used in Australia, has been for several years in successful operation there, and with non-essential variations in England, Scotland, Ireland, and Canada. It has also been adopted in Massachusetts, where it went into effect in 1889. Its principal objects are to prevent bribery and intimidation, to place all candidates upon an equality before the law, and to undermine the dangerous powers of political machines.

The system will be readily understood by reference to the accompanying drawing.

The voter, upon entering the polling-place, turns to his right at the point marked "ENTRANCE," where he receives, from two election officers selected from opposing political parties, a single ballot or a single set of ballots according to the local custom of voting, printed at public expense. On the back is indorsed a stamp or signature, sufficient and only sufficient to identify the ballot as official; and on the face are plainly printed the names of the candidates for each office, with a designation of their respective political parties, after this manner:

	For Mayor.	Vote for One.
Democratic...	John Doe.....
Republican...	Richard Roe.....
Prohibition...	David Smith.....
Independent.	Samuel Jones....
	For Coroners.	Vote for Two.
Democratic...	Alanson Jacobs..
	HarveySylvester
Republican...	Martin Rawson..
	Wyman Simpson
Prohibition...	Valentine Rose..
	Victor Sampson.
Independent.	Erastus Myers...
	Samuel Bixby....

Having received his ballot, the voter enters one of the booths back of the railing, where, secluded from observation, he prepares the ballot by placing in the blank column a cross opposite the name of each candidate for whom he desires to vote; or, if he prefers, by writing the names of candidates of his own nomination in place of those already there. If there are several candidates for the same kind of office, as coroners in the sample ballot above, or presidential electors, and he wishes to vote the "straight" ticket of his party, he places the cross under the name of the party or draws it through the space in the blank column alloted to the party's candidates, which signifies that he votes for each candidate named in that space. Thus, in the sample ballot, a cross under the word "Democratic" or through the first two spaces of the blank column to the right, is one vote each for Alanson Jacobs and Harvey Sylvester.

After preparing his ballot by indicating every candidate for whom he votes, the voter folds it in such manner as to conceal the face and expose the indorsement, and, withdrawing from the booth, gives the ballot to the inspectors, who identify it by the indorsement as official. It is then deposited in the box and the voter passes out at the gate marked "EXIT."

From the time he receives his ballot until he casts it the voter is permitted to have no communication with any one but the election officers, and with them only for official purposes; and only election officers and persons actually engaged in voting are ever admitted within the railing.

Upon proof of inability from physical infirmity or illiteracy a voter may call into the booth officers appointed and sworn for the purpose to aid him in preparing his ballot, and when a ballot is accidentally destroyed or defaced it must be exchanged for a clean one. The importance of the latter requirement may not at once be apparent, but to secure secrecy every ballot delivered to a voter must be either cast or returned. This explains the necessity for indorsing ballots. But for the indorsement a blank paper outwardly resembling a ballot might be cast by a voter, who would then be able surreptitiously to carry away an official ballot. This could be prepared for a bribed voter, the proof of its use being his production of a second official ballot. That could be similarly prepared and used, and so on. Such a fraud, known as the "Tasmanian dodge," was successfully perpetrated in Australia in the early days of the system, but its repetition was prevented by requiring ballots to be officially indorsed.

As it is essential that ballots be printed at public expense and distributed by public officers, the system must include some mode of certifying nominations to the proper authorities a reasonable time before elections. That proposed by the Yates-Saxton bill of New York was, perhaps, as convenient as could be desired. Under it state nominations were to be certified fifteen days and local nominations ten days before election. Nominations of a political party which at the next preceding election polled 3 per cent of the whole vote were to be certified by party officers, and independent nominations, if for a state office, were to be certified by 1,000 voters and if for a local office by 100.

The evils of machine organization and the remedy of the Australian system are summarized as follows by William M. Ivins, than whom no one has done more intelligent, energetic, and effective work for electoral reform:

THE EVIL.	THE REMEDY.
1. The necessity for voluntarily printing and distributing the ballot justifies organization for this purpose.	1. The printing and distribution of all ballots at public expense does away with the necessity of organization for this purpose,
2. It practically vests the machine with the monopoly of the election machinery,	2. And will deprive the political machines of the monopoly of an essential part of the election machinery.
3. And, as a consequence, with the monopoly of nomination.	3. It will enable any body of citizens of the number prescribed by law to have the name of their candidate printed on the same ballot with the names of all other candidates for the same office, so that before the law and before the voters all candidates and all party organizations will stand on a perfectly even footing.
4. It involves the necessity of defraying the expenses of both printing and distribution by means of assessments on or contributions by candidates, office-holders, or party leaders,	4. This will dispense altogether with the necessity of and excuse for levying political assessments.
5. Which facilitates bribery and corruption by affording them convenient covers.	5. And leave no legal cover for bribery.

The Adventists are divided into at least five bodies or companies: 1, Second Advent Christians, who believe in the resurrection and everlasting destruction of the wicked dead; 2, Evangelical Adventists, who hold the orthodox view respecting future punishment; 3, Seventh Day Adventists, who observe the seventh day as the Sabbath: 4, Life and Advent Union, a distinctive tenet of whose belief is the non-resurrection of the wicked dead; 5, Age-to-Come Adventists, who look for the restoration of the Jews to the Holy Land. In polity these branches, excepting the Seventh Day, which lodges ecclesiastical power in its annual and general conferences, are congregational.

The Baptists form a very large family. The largest body, called Regular or Particular Baptists, are generally Calvinistic in doctrine, practice close communion, and, in common with most other Baptists, are congregational in polity and reject infant baptism. The Free Baptists are Arminian in doctrine and open-communion in practice. The Disciples of Christ, who are also called Christians and "Campbellites," baptize by immersion for the remission of sins, observe the communion every Sabbath, and accept no standard or doctrine save the Bible. The Christians, often confounded with the Disciples of Christ, exist in two branches — Northern and Southern. They are considerably older than the Disciples. They baptize by immersion almost universally and take the Bible as their only standard of doctrine. Excepting the Southern branch, they are generally Arians, hold the moral-influence view of the atonement, and reject Calvinistic tenets. The Church of God, founded by Elder Winebrenner, a minister of the Reformed (German) Church, is a German organization, presbyterian in polity, rejecting human creeds, holding that churches should consist of immersed believers, that the Lord's supper should be received in a sitting posture and in the evening, and that feet-washing is obligatory. The Dunkards, or German Baptists, originated in Germany in 1706. They hold to triune immersion, close communion, and enforce on their members non-conformity to the world in matters of dress and conduct, and exist in several separate bodies. The Anti-Mission Baptists are Regular Baptists save in their opposition to missions, Sunday schools, and similar church enterprises.

CHRISTIAN UNION CHURCHES.

	Chs.	Min.	Com.
Christian Union Churches.	1,500	500	120,000

This body arose in the west a quarter of a century ago. It holds to the oneness of the church, of which Christ is the only head, and the Scriptures the only rule of faith and practice. It protests strongly against sectarianism. It might with propriety, perhaps, be classed as a Baptist body, as baptism by immersion is practiced.

CONGREGATIONALISTS.

	Chs.	Min.	Com.
Congregationalists.....	4,569	4,284*	475,608

*Last year's figures.

The Congregationalists have been represented in this country since 1620. Their name is taken from their polity, which vests all ecclesiastical power in the congregation. In doctrine, according to the declaration of the Oberlin National Council, their interpretation of the Holy Scriptures is in "substantial accordance with the great doctrines of the Christian faith, commonly called Evangelical, held in our churches from the early times, and sufficiently set forth by former general councils." This, it is claimed, gives to Arminians equal standing in the denomination with Calvinists.

Total.....	763	1,017	106,930

Orthodox Friends hold to the inspiration and sufficiency of the Scriptures, to immediate revelation by the Holy Spirit to the heart of the individual, and that the only baptism essential to salvation is the "washing of regeneration and the renewing of the Holy Ghost." The Lord's supper is not to be observed by the use of the visible elements, and no one should exercise the ministry without being moved thereto by the Holy Spirit. There is much discussion at present concerning the ordinances. The "Hicksite" Friends (as they are usually called) date from 1827. They are regarded as Unitarian in doctrine, and hold that all church organizations are purely human and should not claim to speak by God's authority. They reject the idea of exercising discipline over individuals or societies.

Lutherans accept as their doctrinal symbols the Augsburg confession, the larger and smaller catechisms, the Schmalkald articles, and the Book of Concord. They are divided into four general bodies and into independent synods. These divisions have been caused chiefly by confessional differences. The Synodical Conference is most rigidly confessional; the General Council is moderately so.

The first societies of Methodists in America were organized about 1766 in Baltimore and in New York. The numerous branches which have sprung from this beginning vary in polity, some being Episcopal, some Presbyterian, and some Congregational and independent, but all agree substantially in doctrine and usage. All are distinctively Arminian. Slavery was responsible for the division of the Methodist Episcopal church in 1844, for the secession of the American Wesleyan connection, in 1843, from the former body, and for the division of the Methodist Protestant church, now reunited. The Methodist Protestant secession was the first considerable one. It began in 1830, and was largely due to unsatisfied demands for changes in polity. The African Methodist Episcopal and the African Methodist Episcopal Zion churches are the result of secessions of colored men from the Methodist Episcopal church nearly a century ago. The colored Methodist Episcopal church was organized by the Methodist Episcopal church South, in 1870. The Evangelical Association and the United Brethren in Christ are of German origin, and are about as old as the present century, but they are Methodistic, having an itinerancy and other Methodist peculiarities.

MENNONITES.

	Chs.	Min.	Com.
Old Mennonites	300	325	65,000
Amish Mennonites	100	150	22,000
Reformed Mennonites	20	40	3,000
New School Mennonites	...	90	10,000
Total	420	605	100,000

These figures are estimates made by a very competent Mennonite. Mennonites baptize "penitent believers" by pouring or sprinkling, practice close communion, observe feet-washing, refuse to take judicial oaths, are nonresistants, and use the ban against unworthy members. Their bishops, elders or ministers, and deacons are chosen by lot. The literal ban is not in general use among the Old Orthodox Mennonites, nor among the New School. The Amish branch and the Reformed branch, however, hold strictly to the ban. The chief cause of separation between the Old Mennonites and the Amish, about A. D. 1700, was the ban. The chief cause of separation of the New School, in 1848, was a determination on the part of the New School representatives to enjoy a greater degree of worldly conformity, both in doctrine and practice, including, of course, also the matter of dress, but this was not the chief cause, by any means. The doctrine of non-resistance, an educated ministry, and matters of this kind were the questions involved.

The official name of this body is Unitas Fratrum. Ecclesiastically, the American is one of three provinces, the German and the British being the other two. The Presbyterians observed in 1884 the bicentenary of the founding of the first Presbyterian church in the United States by the Rev. Francis Makemie. The divisions have been caused chiefly by doctrinal differences. Some of the bodies represent divisions in Scotland. All accept the Westminster confession of faith save the Cumberland church, which was organized near the beginning of the present century in the Cumberland valley. It takes a theological position between Calvinism and Arminianism.

The Protestant Episcopal church is the outcome of the planting of Anglican churches by English colonists in this country. After the revolutionary war these churches became independent of the Church of England and organized the Protestant Episcopal church, which retains the Prayer-Book, the Thirty-Nine Articles of the English church, slightly changed, and is in close communion with that body. In 1873 Assistant Bishop Cummins of Kentucky, with a number of other clergymen and laymen, organized the Reformed Episcopal church, which accepts in substance the Thirty-Nine Articles, adheres to Episcopacy, though not as of divine right; retains a liturgy, but denies that it is imperative, and rejects certain "erroneous doctrines," among which is baptismal regeneration and the Real Presence.

The Reformed church in America and the Reformed church in the United States are better known as the Reformed (Dutch) church and the Reformed (German) church respectively. The Dutch church began its history in this country with the Dutch immigration to this country early in the seventeenth century, the German not until a much later period. There is only a shade of difference between the two bodies doctrinally. The symbols of the Dutch church are the confession of faith and canons of the synod of Dordrecht; also the Heidelberg catechism, which is the only symbol of the German church.

The services of the Church of Rome were the earliest Christian services held on this continent. The fathers were diligent missionaries among the Indians from a very early date and ministered among Catholic colonists, but there was no Catholic bishop until after the revolutionary war. The church has grown enormously by immigration.

There are Christadelphians, Plymouth Brethren, and other small bodies and a number of independent congregations not included under this head. Of Plymouth Brethren there are perhaps a hundred or more assemblies or societies in this country, with, it may be, 5,000 or 6,000 members. There are two branches of them, one of which is spoken of as the branch of "Loose" Brethren, because they allow liberty of belief as to certain doctrines which the other body of Brethren regard as vital to Bible religion. The Brethren have no church buildings or church property. Their meetings are held in halls. They have no ordained ministers and no salaried officials of any kind. All are allowed to exercise the functions of the ministry who have gifts and grace.

BASE BALL.

HISTORY OF THE GAME.

The first series of contests for what may be called the base-ball championship took place during 1857-8 and 1859. At that time the Elysian Fields at Hoboken were the great center of base-ball playing, and here the Knickerbocker, Eagle, Gotham, and Empire clubs had their contests. A rivalry sprung up, however, between these clubs and a Brooklyn club (Atlantic), and after seven exciting games the Atlantic club won the championship. In 1861 two picked nines, one from the New York clubs and the other from the Brooklyn clubs, contested for the "silver ball," and the latter won. The breaking out of the war took away the interest in the game, which was not revived until 1866. The next year the National club of Washington made a tour to the west playing with clubs in all important cities.

In 1869 the National association first sanctioned the employment of professional players by the clubs, and the Cincinnati Red Stockings, the first professional club, took the field, and out of fifty-seven games played they lost only one, that being a tie with the Troy (N. Y.) club. In 1871 the first convention of professional clubs was held and a series of games provided for. The great increase of clubs led to the organization of the Base-Ball league on the 2d of February, 1876. We give the record of league games for each succeeding year.

SPORTING.

THE BASE-BALL CHAMPIONS.

The season of 1889 was crowded with sensations in the base-ball world. First there was the return of the globe-trotting aggregation, consisting of the Chicagos under Anson and the All-Americas under John Ward, after giving exhibitions of the American national game on five continents and in thirty-three different countries and states. The great undertaking was organized by President Spalding of the Chicago team, and perhaps will remain the greatest advertisement the game will ever receive. The two teams played ball for all that they were worth, and the All-Americas had the pleasure of defeating the Chicagos in about four out of every five games. The Chicagos came home and began the season entirely demoralized. They had been banqueted and wined until they were little more than society dudes. It was close work for many weeks between them and the two tail-enders, Washington and Indianapolis. Detroit had been succeeded by Cleveland in the League, the most of the famous team going to Boston and Pittsburg, giving the former what was supposed to be the pennant-winning club. For two-thirds of the season, however, the Cleveland "Spiders," with their playing ability, made wonderful progress against all the old Leaguers. They created terror wherever they went and drew immense crowds. Suddenly, however, the New Yorks, who had been plodding along in third and fourth positions, began to crawl up on the two leaders, overtaking the Clevelands, who dropped to a good third. The Chicagos began to recover about the first of September and challenged Philadelphia for fourth place. Suddenly both clubs pass d Cleveland, and from that time until the close of the season it was a desperately fought battle for the first four places—so close, in fact, that the final positions of New York, Boston, Chicago, and Philadelphia all depended on the result of the last game of the season. Had the Giants lost at Cleveland and Boston won at Pittsburg, instead of the opposite, Boston would have waved the flag during the season of 1890. The Philadelphia team had the same chance to rank third by winning at Chicago, but the superb pitching of Hutchinson was too much for them.

In the Association the famous Browns of St. Louis were forced to yield the pennant to Brooklyn, for the first time in five years. The Brooklyn and the New York clubs then played a world's-championship series of eleven games, out of which New York won six of the first nine and decided the dispute. All New York went wild with two world's-championships to her credit, and that popular cry "We are the people" was adopted as the motto of the club and became a by-word all over the country soon after.

The season had hardly closed until the Brotherhood of Base-Ball Players sprung their co-operative league scheme and struck terror to the hearts of the magnates and former bosses, who had previously simply laughed at the idea of their players leaving them. Second-Baseman Fred Pfeffer, John Ward, Mike Kelly, Tim Keefe, and others became the moving spirits in the new organization and proceeded to see that the players in each city were incorporated as new clubs. The League men retaliated by offering fabulous sums to buy back the ringleaders of the Brotherhood and thus break up the project. Clarkson signed to play with Boston at a salary of $10,000 per annum for a period of three years, it was said, while several Philadelphia, Washington, and Indianapolis players also accepted large offers.

About this time Brooklyn and Cincinnati withdrew from the Association and were taken into the League fold, thus making a League of ten clubs for the season of 1890. The Association at once took steps to fill its ranks from clubs in the International League, but before New Year's day it became a matter of much speculation whether St. Louis would not join the Brotherhood League. Everything hung in an unsettled state. The League men began suits at law against John Ward of New York and certain Philadelphia players, further threatening to enjoin every old player under contract for the previous year from playing with the Brotherhood during 1890. The Brotherhood men are keeping quiet and the end is uncertain.

The average rate of interest is 06.90. In explanation of this table Secretary Lord says: "The term 'lands' in this connection embraces all acre-tracts of land as distinguished from town lots, blocks, and subdivisions, and is consequently, in general, equivalent to farm lands. The exception is that in the vicinity of large cities, notably Chicago, certain lands are held for speculation rather than cultivation, and possess a value as suburban property which practically takes them out of the class of farm lands, though they necessarily appear in that category here. The number of acres of this kind is relatively small, but their value as security and the consequent incumbrance upon them is relatively great."

SIGHTS AND DISTANCES.

In accordance with the United States army standard of sights and distances, at 30 yards the whites of a man's eyes can be seen; at 100 yards the general lines of a man's face are distinguishable and brass buttons can be counted; at 200 yards the lines of the face are confused and rows of buttons look like stripes; at 300 yards details of clothing disappear; at 400 yards the movements of a man's limbs are distinct; at 600 yards it becomes impossible to see the motions of a man's arms and legs; at 800 yards a group of men standing together cannot be counted; at 1,000 yards a company of soldiers look like a broad line; at 1,200 yards a man cannot be told from a woman, but horsemen are distinguishable from footmen; at 1,600 yards it is impracticable to distinguish a man from a horse; at 2,000 yards a horseman is a mere speck.

TRADE, COMMERCE, AND MANUFACTURES IN 1889.

An approximately correct record of the conditions prevailing in the business world during 1889 will be found in the subjoined reports. They have been furnished for THE DAILY NEWS ALMANAC by persons and firms of high standing in commercial, manufacturing, and trade circles, and may, therefore, be relied upon as trustworthy. Many of the minor lines and branches of business have, of course, been omitted as a matter of necessity, but nearly all of any considerable importance are represented. These reports will give a fair idea of the course of prices and the general condition of commerce, trade, and manufacturing throughout the country during the year 1889. They will be found valuable for purposes of reference and comparison.

BOARD OF TRADE MARKETS.

The course of prices in 1889 has been exceptional. During nearly every year the mid-winter prices have not materially changed until after the 1st of May, when lake navigation is resumed and some estimate may be intelligently made of crop prospects. But this year prices declined rather rapidly from the 1st of January to the month of May, the decline amounting to about 7 per cent upon the chief commodities; and then, what was strange in view of good crop prospects, prices advanced about 3 per cent. This was a reaction from the unusual course of the markets from January to May and indicated that the depression in the earlier months of the year led to unduly desponding views regarding the influence on the markets of full crops. The history of the markets during the last few years renders the public business pulse very sensitive to depressing indications, while on the other hand any prospects of better prices are looked upon with comparative distrust. The speculator has during the last few years witnessed so many sudden and unlooked-for changes that he has grown timid and transforms many things which come within his horizon into fatalities which he must avoid by precipitate retreat or change of front. This accounts for the trend of the markets and the absence of any constancy of confidence in advancing prices. Capital whispers fear into the ear of speculation, and enterprise and faith are shaken, and forthwith plans are abandoned. This has kept the markets most of the time timid, spasmodic, abnormal, and without any sterling characteristics.

It is estimated that prices are fully 20 per cent below those current Nov. 1, 1860. The cost of transportation, improved methods, and mechanical appliances account sufficiently for the reduction in values. In November, 1860, the freight on wheat was 65 cents per 100 pounds from Chicago to New York. It is now 25 cents. Thus a reduction of 24 cents per bushel is accounted for, all other things being equal. In addition should be observed the reduction in rates of freight between points west of Chicago and this city. It should also be borne in mind that the prices of iron and its products, especially steel and steel rails, have been reduced, I think, from 60 to 80 per cent during this period, both on account of a decline in transportation charges and improved methods in manufacturing, brought about to some extent by securing the services of scientific young men in great works to take the places formerly occupied by those who were merely copyists and were without any knowledge of the laws of physics, and who were also without that mental discipline which prompts a man to grapple with problems instead of dismissing them. Competition in this age is an educator, for it has exhausted the facilities along the coarser and superficial lines and reaches up into the realm of education and acute mental analysis. It is not now how many hours a man can work in a day, how early he can rise, and how late he can toil, but how much brain he can bring to his task, for brain-work will overcome brute force and long days and cheap labor. It is getting to be understood in all of the great industries that low-priced help is the most expensive element in business conduct and high-priced and brain help is the more economical. Great corporations and broad-minded men at the head of extensive business interests understand this fully, and that to financially recognize great ability is to obtain the full fruits of that ability. We do not seek in this country to compete with the low-priced labor of other lands by low-priced labor. We do not propose to curtail in any degree the requirements of enlightened labor, but we grapple with the problems introduced by competition by applying to them that study, inventive ability, and mental acumen which are essential to the unremitting investigation of methods of manufacture, and also by considering the economic relation of transportation and storage to such problems. In this way we shall exalt labor, increase its rewards, multiply its fruits, brighten its prospects, and usher the children of the laboring man to a new and higher realm and promote a common prosperity.

As a rule, prices in 1889 have been lower than in 1888. It is only in cases where trusts or combines controlled that prices have been higher. I judge that business, notwithstanding, has been fully as remunerative as in the year preceding, because the volume of business has been much larger, and also because of the facts I have hereinbefore attempted to describe. Business has not been seriously disturbed at any period of the year by financial distresses, and we shall enter upon the new year with well-founded expectations of substantial prosperity. It does not, in my opinion, detract from these views that a certain kind of speculation has diminished. The business on this board has been satisfactory. GEORGE F. STONE,

Secretary Chicago Board of Trade.

Chicago, Dec. 13, 1889.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS.

The volume of trade in agricultural implements generally follows or is largely affected by crop prospects and prices. The crops of 1889 were unusually good and the acreage was large, but the prices for farm produce were far from satisfactory. The spring trade in plows, seeders, grain drills, harrows, etc., was unusually large and considerably in excess of average years. In grain and grass harvesting machinery the trade was large but not increased as might reasonably have been expected, particularly in grain harvesters. The trade in mowers was larger than ever before. The demand for twine grain-binders was considerably affected by the belief among farmers that a gigantic "twine trust" existed to fleece them by exorbitant prices for twine, and they showed their displeasure by deferring the purchase of binders when they could possibly harvest their crops with the old machines. There was a good demand for threshers, corn-shellers, feed machines, and other farm machinery for autumn and winter use. The manufacturers of threshing machines, of plows, and of several other lines of farm machinery have conserved their own interests and those of the dealers in their goods by trade organizations, but in the line of harvesting machinery sharp competition still exists. There is, however, a tendency to concentrate the business in the hands of the larger manufacturers. Chicago leads the country in the important class of grain and grass harvesting machinery. More than 60 per cent of all this kind of machinery is sold from Chicago by the manufacturers located here or in the immediate vicinity. Fully 40 per cent of all the grain-harvesting machinery of the country is made within the precincts of the city of Chicago.

MACHINERY.

The volume of business in the manufacture and sale of machinery was greater than ever before, the demand being more active than in 1888. This was the case with all the large machine shops and especially so with engine-builders. The demand has been fostered largely by the rapid introduction of electrical plants for lighting and railway purposes, and requiring large steam powers. Prices for all standard articles were low, apparently not being influenced by the sharp advance in iron and steel. No advance is looked for by the leading manufacturers, though the outlook is that there will be a larger demand than ever and that machinery will sell at fair prices.

SHELF HARDWARE.

The shelf-hardware trade of the country for the year 1889 opened very satisfactorily with an increased volume of business and a flattering outlook for a partial recovery from the low prices that had been ruling in 1888. Quite early in the spring, however, it became evident that the production of finished goods largely exceeded the demand, and with a slackened trade prices rapidly fell to the lowest point known in the history of the business, and unquestionably much lower than a large proportion of the goods could be profitably produced at. This unsatisfactory condition of affairs continued until about the middle of August, when, excellent crops being assured, the experienced and long-headed merchant began buying freely, and the business of the fall months was considerably in excess of even the notable autumn trade of the previous year. About the same time a remarkable reaction began in the prices of iron and steel and their immediate products in the markets of the world, and while this was soon reflected in many items of shelf hardware, the bulk of goods remained cheap.

IRON AND STEEL.

The year 1889 started in with a not very active demand for iron, and prices declined steadily during the entire first half of the year, pig-iron selling from $18 per ton in Chicago down to $15 or $15.50 in July. Since that time the demand has increased steadily and prices have correspondingly advanced, so that at the present writing prices are on about the same level as they were a year ago. The condition of the pig-iron trade is typical of that of all other branches in the iron-and-steel industry, with this exception, that Bessemer steel and Bessemer pig-iron have advanced still more than other grades of iron and steel. Production of all kinds during the year was larger than in any other year in the history of the trade. The quantity of pig-iron now being made is larger than that being made in Great Britain, and at the same time prices are actually lower than in Great Britain. For instance, iron that was quoted there Nov. 15 at 77 shillings 6 pence, or about $19 per ton, was quoted on the same day in Chicago at $18.50 to $19. Bar iron, quoted in England at £8 6d, or about $40, was quoted at $38. This is believed to be the first time that the production has been greater and the prices lower here than in England.

STOVES.

The total value of stoves manufactured in 1888 is estimated at $35,800,000; that for 1889 at $36,600,000. This shows an increase for 1889 of about 2¼ per cent. The improvement was in the south, which, as its prosperity increases, buys more stoves and stoves of better quality and higher grade. There was a slight increase in the western trade and a decrease in the eastern. The lack of cold weather in the fall had a detrimental effect upon the November and December trade. Prices were firmly maintained everywhere. In the south there was a decided advance, especially in the cheaper classes, necessitated by the higher prices for raw material. The average for 1889 was slightly higher than for 1888. Stocks in the hands of manufacturers at the close of the year were about normal. Purchases by consumers have been in excess of those by dealers, and it may consequently be predicted that there will be an active demand in 1890, providing the country is fairly prosperous. The profits of the manufacturers have suffered, the advance in material not having been followed by a corresponding advance in the price of the product. The amount of pig-iron consumed in the manufacture of cooking and heating stoves, ranges, and furnaces in 1889 is estimated at 417,000 tons.

TOBACCO.

The cigar-leaf crops of 1888, which are entering at present into the process of manufacture, were with a few exceptions of a superior quality and are as a rule commanding very good, and in some instances a very high price. The crops of 1889 are at this writing (December) still on the poles, but it may be stated as a fact that they contain a far less quantity of fine grades than the 1888 crops did, and consequently they will have to be sold at a lower figure. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1889, we imported 20,106,881 pounds of foreign leaf at a cost of $10,868,226. During the fiscal year ending June, 1888, we imported but 18,600,142 pounds, thus showing an increase of 1,500,000 pounds in favor of the present year. During the year ending June 30 last there were manufactured 3,867,385,640 cigars, as against 3,844,726,650 during the preceding year. The reason for the small increase in the manufacture of cigars may be found in the increased consumption of cigarettes. This year the output was 2,151,661,300, as against 1,862,726,100 in 1888. Manufactured plug, chewing, and smoking tobacco produced during the fiscal year ending June 30 amounted to 221,524,868 pounds, as against 209,362,602 pounds in 1888. The western leaf, which used to be a great staple article for export, makes the poorest showing in the tobacco trade. We exported during the fiscal year ending June 30, 1889, but 223,759,232 pounds, against 262,682,821 pounds in 1888.

LEATHER.

The manufacture of leather for the past year has been fairly successful to most tanners, and while prices have been very low, and lower for the year on general lines of upper leather than at any other time for the last twenty-five years, yet the goods have paid a small profit. The prices, however, have got so low and the stocks have become so much reduced, both in the hair and finished article, that the tendency now points most positively to higher prices for the coming year—not a large advance, but somewhere near an average of from 5 to 10 per cent. The sole-leather business has not stood the shrinkage that upper stock has and the comparative prices of this class have been higher than upper leather. At the same time sole-leather hides have been relatively higher and still prices have advanced materially. The prospect in most kinds of raw materials is to a further advance, which will also have the effect to further enhance the value of finished goods. The volume of trade has been large and the season's business, generally speaking, has been favorable to tanners.

FLOUR.

A year ago the milling business was in a very depressed state, owing to the price of wheat being forced up to abnormal figures by speculation, the shutting off of export trade, and the glut in the market caused by overproduction in the early part of the season. These conditions existed all over the milling territory, with the exception of the Atlantic coast, where the mills were favored by exceptional circumstances. Especially were the spring-wheat mills at a disadvantage, as winter wheat, while it was affected to some extent by the high prices in the northwest, did not go to such an extremely inflated value. Later on as prices declined millers felt better and were given an opportunity to manufacture at a profit. Since Sept. 1 the mills in the northwest have been running steadily. Milling generally all over the United States was fairly satisfactory, and owing to the more reasonable range of values the export trade steadily improved.

BREAD.

In the fall of 1888 the price of flour was advanced, until in October high-grade "patents" such as bakers use in making the better grades of bread were ruling at an advance of from $2.50 to $3 per barrel. To meet this advance in the cost of flour the price of bread was raised 20 per cent, or 1 cent per pound loaf. As the season advanced the price of flour was gradually, reduced, until in February (1889) the trade felt warranted in putting the price back to the old figures, although the reduction they then made was more in proportion than the reduction in the price of flour. Since that time prices have remained unchanged, being on the basis of 5 cents per pound loaf for the better grades of bread.

CROCKERY.

There are 412 potteries in the United States of all classes. Of these sixty-seven are engaged in making what is known in the trade as white and decorated goods. This includes all classes of dinner, tea, and toilet ware and sanitary goods for household and public uses. The remaining potteries are devoted to Rockinham, colored ware, flower-pots, sewer-pipes, cooking utensils, architectural work, and conservatory goods. The principal capital employed is in the manufacture of white and decorated goods for household uses. The range is from $50,000 to $500,000 in capital and the output ranges from $75,000 to $600,000 per annum. The chief potteries are located in Trenton, N. J., and East Liverpool, O. The product of the American potteries last year equaled the amount imported. Internal competition gradually reduced prices from 25 per cent discount on the regular list to 50 and 60 per cent, with a downward tendency.

MILLINERY AND STRAW GOODS.

There is very little change to note in the millinery trade for the year. The business shows a small percentage of gain and the trade generally will not much exceed that of 1888. Goods were from 5 to 10 per cent lower in Chicago but the new business from the northwest about equalized the shrinkage in prices. The manufacture of straw goods is steadily increasing. The jobbing business in the millinery line for the year is estimated at from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000.

BARB WIRE.

The use of barb wire for fencing purposes is constantly increasing, especially in the west and southwest. The indications are that the present large demand will continue indefinitely. As the country is being settled for farming purposes barb wire must be used to fence it. It is now cheaper than any other fence that is manufactured. The consumption for the year 1889 is estimated at 150,000 tons, which amounts to an increase of about 10 per cent over the preceding year. Prices ruled lower until in October, when the upward tendency of steel billets caused a slight increase. The prospects are that a steady increase will be maintained, at least through the spring trade.

LUMBER.

At the opening of navigation this year stocks in Chicago were very heavy—excessive as compared with former years. Prices on low-grade lumber gradually declined. The receipts were somewhat less than last year, and the sales perhaps less by half the difference in receipts. Good lumber was held firm during the year. Competition from the south of yellow pine in markets formerly controlled by Chicago and the north, the running of railroads to Michigan and Wisconsin manufacturing points and bringing the consumer closer to the stump have all tended to force serious competition in the Chicago market and make the trade more scattered for wholesale dealers. The local trade, however, increasing from year to year, makes up in part for the outside loss.

FISH.

Many kinds of fish were much higher this year than last. The catch of mackerel was very small and prices ranged extremely high, and would undoubtedly have advanced still more had it not been for the mackerel catch on the Scotch, Irish, and Norwegian coasts. Lake fish ranged about the same in price as last year. The year may be considered to have been a disastrous one to the Atlantic fleet, as many vessels passed into the sheriff's hands on account of the light fishing of the summer.

DRY GOODS.

The year was uneventful in the dry-goods jobbing business. Prices were generally firm. Trade was active and a healthy business was done. Sales increased considerably over 1888, collections were better, and fewer failures occurred. The merchants in the northwest especially were never in a better shape, and there is at this writing every prospect for a very large and profitable spring business.

SPORTING GOODS.

The business in sporting goods during the past year has been satisfactory. While the trade has not shown the percentage of increase that it has in some years, it has, on the whole, been good, especially in the line of exports. The foreign trade, especially in Australia, promises to be very large. In consequence of the trip made around the world by the Chicagos and All-Americas a year ago great enthusiasm has been manifested over base ball. The general trade in athletic goods has been very good and the tendency of the people generally is to indulge more in athletics and outdoor recreations. The department that has shown the greatest increase is that of lawn tennis. It is about eight or ten years since the game was first introduced in this country, and for some time it was played by comparatively few. In the past year, however, the increase in the number of those devoted to the sport has been marvelous.

JEWELRY.

Trade in jewelry, precious stones, watches, silver, and silver-plated ware has been unusually good during 1889. There are no marked changes in the quantity and value of exports and imports in any of these lines of goods, although on an average the exports slightly exceed those of the preceding year, while the importations are not quite so large. There is no pronounced increase in prices, except on diamonds. Rough diamonds are nearly 50 per cent higher, owing to an increased demand and a diminished supply, resulting from a consolidation of African diamond-mining interests. Finished gems are not yet proportionately higher, although the prices are steadily rising. The reductions in prices are confined to lower-grade watch-cases and silver-plated cutlery. A heavy reduction in the price of aluminium ingots has rendered that mineral available for trade uses to a degree not previously anticipated. The demand for electric clocks, non-magnetic watches, and anti-magnetic shields for watches has materially increased.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS.

The trade among dealers in musical instruments during the year showed a small percentage of increase over 1888, the prices remaining about the same. There was, however, a large increase in the manufacturing of pianos, organs, and small musical goods. In Chicago, for instance, the manufacture of reed organs increased at least 20 per cent, and possibly 25 per cent. In the manufacture of pianos, comparatively a new industry in the west, the increase was from 40 to 50 per cent.

BICYCLES.

The retail prices of bicycles for 1889 were for all grades the same as in 1888; high-grade "ordinary" or high machines costing from $120 to $140, and "safeties" of the same grade selling at a uniform figure—$135. Low grades of both styles varied from $35 to $115. The business for 1889 was the largest in the history of the trade. The demand for high-grade safeties for men amounted almost to a craze, while the orders for the same machine for boys poured in upon the manufacturers so thick and fast that at one time they could not be had for love or money. This condition of things has caused cycle manufactories to spring up like mushrooms all over the country, and from present indications it would seem as if the market would be flooded with low-grade machines in 1890. The number of safeties sold this year compared with "ordinaries" is about four to one. The number of riders has greatly increased, especially among the ladies, who, almost without exception, use the safety bicycle, the tricycle becoming obsolete. The total number of riders in the country is slightly over 100,000; in Chicago, 2,700, of whom 75 to 100 are ladies.

VEHICLES.

It is difficult to secure accurate data regarding the manufacture of vehicles in the United States. No estimate of the business done in 1889 can yet be made, though there is no reason for thinking that it will be less than in 1888, when the product was from 575,000 to 600,000 wheeled vehicles of all kinds, valued at about $60,000,000. Reports from 1,066 individual and corporate manufacturers showed that 169,833 business vehicles were made, 2,225 omnibuses, hacks, etc.; 2,592 heavy private carriages, 232,784 buggies, road carts, and other light vehicles; sleighs, 27,166. These figures, however, represent only about half the product.

WALL-PAPER, STATIONERY, ETC.

Dealers in wall-paper, window-shades, stationery, and similar articles report that business was generally good during the past year, the volume being larger than ever before. Customers throughout the west and northwest, with the exception of North Dakota, where there was a partial failure of the crops, bought freely on the average. Medium-priced goods were chiefly in demand.

FINE ARTS.

The year was a very poor one for dealers in fine-art goods throughout the country and particularly in Chicago. A presidential election generally unsettles this line of business from October to May, and the bad effect was even more noticeable the past year than usual. A large part of the custom comes from those connected in some way with the board of trade, and, as the speculative year was a comparatively poor one, the art trade suffered proportionately. The sale of paintings on this side of the Atlantic was very poor on account of so many of the better buyers going to the Paris exposition. Art goods come entirely under the head of luxuries and business in that line is good only when all other lines are at their best.

FURNITURE.

Manufacturers of furniture are not disposed to complain of the business done in 1889, although the competition was so great that the margin of profit was not as large as desirable. There was no material change in prices as compared with 1888, except a tendency to rule higher. With some exceptions the general condition of the trade was good.

BRICK.

The demand for brick, especially of the pressed variety, was brisk. New yards were started wherever clay beds could be found that would do for this purpose, and the result was that prices during the year were lower than ever before. The season was an unusually busy one with all the manufacturers of brick.

BOOTS AND SHOES.

Prices of boots and shoes for the past year have been a little off—say about 5 per cent. The sales have been from 5 to 10 per cent more. The prospects for the future are first-rate, with a slight upward tendency in price.

FEATHERS.

The season in feathers has been a good one. Sales run from 15 to 20 per cent in advance of those last year. Prices have been very nearly the same as in 1888, though they decreased slightly during the year. The market on raw stock was firm and collections were fair.

BOOKS.

Book dealers in most parts of the country did an excellent business during the year. The most notable failure among publishers was that of Belford, Clarke & Co. of Chicago and New York.

WATCHES.

The manufacture of watches is gradually increasing, especially in the west. The Elgin company, for instance, did a business in 1888 of over $3,000,000, and the past year their production exceeded even these enormous figures. The demand continues in advance of the production.

SALT.

There was little or no change to note in the salt business during the year. Prices for dairy and table salt remained about the same, though the sale of some varieties, as, for instance, the Genesee, was greatly increased.

TOILET ARTICLES.

Leading manufacturers report that their total output of toilet articles, laundry soap, and chemically pure glycerine during 1889 was considerably larger than for the corresponding period in 1888. While the volume of business increased, prices ruled somewhat lower, so that the net result of each year was about the same. Collections were satisfactory.

CONFECTIONERY.

The confectionery business is one of steadily increasing magnitude in this country. The census reports of 1880 placed the value of the confectionery product at about $26,000,000. It is believed that the census returns of 1890 will show that the production has increased to between $40,000,000 and $50,000,000. The past year has not been in any sense an eventful one, although the high price of sugar for several months in the summer caused a corresponding advance in prices on the part of the wholesale trade. It may be said that the average prices during about eight months of 1889 corresponded with those of 1888, and during the other four months were from 1 to 2 cents a pound higher. As a rule retail prices were not affected.

CURIOSITIES OF FIGURES.

A very curious number is 142,857, which, multiplied by 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, or 6, gives the same figures in the same order, beginning at a different point, but if multiplied by 7, gives all nines. Multiplied by 1 it equals 142,857, multiplied by 2 equals 285,714, multiplied by 3 equals 428,751, multiplied by 4 equals 571,428, multiplied by 5 equals 714,285, multiplied by 6 equals 857,142, multiplied by 7 equals 999,999. Multiply 142,857 by 8 and you have 1,142,856. Then add the first figure to the last, and you have 142,857, the original number, the figures exactly the same as at the start. Another mathematical wonder is the following: It is discovered that the multiplication of 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1 by 45 gives 44, 44, 44, 44, 44, 45. Reversing the order of the digits and multiplying, 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 by 45 we get a result equally curious, 5,555,555,505. If we take 1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9 as the multiplicand and, interchanging the figures of 45, take 54 as the multiplier, 6,666,666,606. Returning to the multiplicand 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1, and taking 54 as the multiplier again, we get 53,333,333.34—all 3's except the first and the last figures, which together read 54. the multiplier. Taking the same multiplicand and 27, the half of 54, as the multiplier, we get a product of 26,666,666,667—all 6's except the first and last figures, which together read 27, the multiplier. Now interchanging the order of the figures 27 and using 72 as the multiplier, 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1 as the multiplicand, we get a product of 71,111,111,112—all 1's except the first and last figures, which read together 72, the multiplier.

TIME MEASUREMENT.

Why the Hours and Minutes Are Divided Into Sixtieths.

Why is our hour divided into sixty minutes, each minute into sixty seconds, etc.? Simply and solely because in Babylon there existed, by the side of the decimal system of notation, another system, the sexagesimal, which counted by sixties. Why that number should have been chosen is clear enough, and it speaks well for the practical sense of those ancient Babylonian merchants. There is no number which has so many divisors as 60. The Babylonians divided the sun's daily journey into 24 parasangs, or 720 stadia. Each parasang, or hour, was subdivided into 60 minutes. A parasang is about a German mile, and Babylonian astronomers compared the progress made by the sun during one hour at the time of the equinox to the progress made by a good walker during the same time, both accomplishing one perasang. The whole course of the sun during the 14 equinoctial hours was fixed at 24 perasangs, or 720 stadia, or 360 degrees. The system was handed on to the Greeks, and Hipparchus, the great Greek philosopher, who lived about 150 B. C., introduced the Babylonian hour into Europe. Ptolemy, who wrote about 150 A. D., and whose name still lives in that of the Ptolemaic system of astronomy, gave still wider currency to the Babylonian way of reckoning time. It was carried along on the quiet stream of traditional knowledge through the middle ages, and, strange to say, it sailed down safely over the Niagara of the French revolution. Here we see the wonderful coherence of the world, and how what we call knowledge is the result of an unbroken tradition of a teaching descending from father to son.
